To the Reader.

Lthough I was not altogether negligent, in Noting down such Occurrences, respecting the present War with the Heathen in New-England, as came to my knowledg, in the time of them; vet what I did that way, was meerly for my own private use; nor had I the least thought of publishing any of my Observations, until such time as I read a Narrative of this War, said to be Written by a Merchant in Boston, which it seems met with an Imprimatur at London, in December last: The abounding Mistakes therein, caused me to think it necessary, that a true History of this Affair should be Published. Wherefore I resolved (oùv OED) to Methodize such scattered Observations as I had by me, fo were the Hore subsective of a few days improved. Whilft I was doing this, there came to my hands another Narrative of this War, written by a Quaker in Road-Island, who pretends to know the Truth of things; but that Narrative being fraught with worse things than meer Mistakes, I was thereby quickned to expedite what I had in hand. I moved that some other might have done it, but none presenting, I thought of his saying, Ab alio quovis boc fieri mallem quam à me, sed à me tamen potius quam à nemine. hope that in one thing, (though it may be in little else) I have performed the part of an Historian, viz. In endeavouring to relate things truly and impartially, and doing the best I could that I might not lead the Reader into a Mistake. Historyis indeed in it self a profitable study. Learned Men know that Polybius, and the great Philosopher call it, 'Anntivatation maidian it μρήσιμην χυμνασίαν. And there is holy Scripture to encourage a work of this nature ; For what was the Book of the Wars of the Lord ? Num.21.14. And that Book of Fasher, which we read of in Foshua and in Samuel? Yea, and the Book of the Chronicles, mentioned in the Book of Kings (for we find not some of those things referred unto in the Canonical Book of Chronicles). were these Books, but the faithful Records of the Providential Dispensations of God, in the days of old? Yea, and it is proper for the Ministers of God, to ingage themselves in Services of this nature, Witness the History, or Commentary מדרש of the Prophet Iddo,2 Chro. 13.22. Whether my defective manner of management in this History renders it unprofitable, I know not. Confidering the other employments that are always upon me, together with my personal inabilities, I have cause to suspect it may be so, in a great measure. If any one shall hereby be incited to do better, I hope I shall rather thank than envy him, whenver epper due wor. And I earnestly wish that some effectual Course may be taken (before it be too late) that a just History of New-England, be written and published to the World. That is a thing that hath been often spoken of, but was never done to this day, and yet the longer it is deferred, the more difficulty will there be in effecting of it.

Moreover the thing which I mainly defigned, was the subsequent Exbortation, which is annexed herewith, wherein I have defired to approve my felf as in the fight of God, speaking what I believe God would have me to speak, without respect to any person in this world. And there is one thing infifted on therein, concerning which I could wish that I had said more, I mean that which doth respect endeavours for the Conversion of the Heathen unto Christ. There are some that make a wrong use of a Notion of Mr. Cottons touching this matter, alledging that he taught that a general Conversion of Indians is not to be expected before the seven Vials are poured forth upon the Antichristian State, nor before the conversion of the Femily Nation. It is far from my purpole to contradict that Great Author, unto whose dust (in respect of near Affinity as well as on the account of his Eminency in Grace and spiritual Gifts) I ow a sacred Reverence, and it is known that I have my felt afferted the same Notion both in Sermons, and in a printed Discourse concerning the Salvation of the Tribes of Israel. But it was never intended that that Affertion should be improved, so as to discourage from the profecution of that which was the professed, pious, and a main design of the Fathers of this Colony; viz. To propagate the Gospel and Kingdom of Christ among these Indians, who in former Ages had not heard of his fame and Glory. It is indeed true, that although a Fulness of the Gentiles in respect of Apostasy, shal be accomplished (so must they fulfill their Times) before the calling of the Tems, yet the fulness of the Gentiles in respect of Conversion. will not come in before that. Nevertheless a glorious Sprinkling, and great success of the Gospel may be in particular places at present, even amongst Heathen. And the Salvation of a tew immortal Souls is worth the labour of many all their lives. And happy experience hath confirmed this; for here in New-England, fix Churches have been constituted amongst the Indians. And the labours of Robert Junius forty years fince amonght the East-Indians in Formofa, were wonderfully successful; for (as Cashar Sibellius, Pastor of the Church in Daventry in Holland, writing the History of that affair doth relate) there were no less than five thousand and nine hundred Indians that became professedly subject to the Gospel, and were all, together with their children, baptized into the Name of Jesus Christ. Junius having learned the Indian Language, and being a Man of exemplary Piety in his convertation, and one also that excelled in wisdom and spiritual Abilities, God was with him, and made him an happy Instrument of wining Souls. He Translated some part of the Scripture, and wrote Catechisms, and other profitable Books in their Language. He caused Schools to be erected among those blind Barbarians, so as that fix bundred of them were able to read and write, and about fifty who excelled in knowledg, and were of approved godliuels, became Instructors of others in the Principles of the true Christian Religion : Yea, in three and twenty Towns, there were Indian Christian Churches Planted. And learned Men were sent out of Holland, in order to a further propagation of the interest of the Gospel in those remote parts of the World. Alfo Justus Heurnius, who was at first a Fhysician, being inflamed with a fingular, zeal after Gods Glory, and the Salvation of Souls of Men, left his practifing in Medicinal Cures, and betook himfelf wholly to the study of Divinity; after which he engaged in a Voyage towards the East-Indians, defigning their Conversion, and having learned their Language, spent fourteen Years amongst them: and as the great Voetius (in his Disputation, De Vocatione Gentium) testifieth, was instrumental to the Conversion of many of those Indians, so as to erect Churches of them in divers places, yea, and took care for the learned Education of divers Youngmen, even amongst the Indians themselves, so as that they were able to infiruct the feveral Churches, which by the bleffing of God upon his Labours had been lately formed. It is great pity then, that we in New-England, who do not come behind others in Profession, and Pretences to Religion, should fall short in real endeavours, for the promotion and propagation of Religion, and Christianity amongst those that have been for ages that are past, without God, and without Christ, and Strangers to the Common-wealth of Israel. It troubleth me, when I read how the Papists glory in that they have converted so many of the East and West-Indians to the Christian Faith, and reproach Protestants, because they have been no more industrious in a work of that nature. Though I know they have little cause to Glory, if the whole truth were known. For as for many of their Converts, inasmuch as they are become Vassals, not only to the Heresies, but to the Persons of those who have Profelyted them, they are as Christ said concerning the Profelytes of the Scribes and Pharifees, swofold more the children of Hell, than they were before; and many of them know little of Christianity besides the Name. Witness the celebrated Story of that Franciscan, who wrote a Letter to a Friend of his in Europe, wherein he glorieth that having lived fix and twenty years amongst the Indians, he had converted many thousands of them to the

To the Reader.

Faith, and he defired his Friend to fend him a Book called the Bible, for he heard there was such a Book in Europe, which might be of some use to him. Surely, Francis himself did not excel this Franciscan, in profound ignorance. It is also true, that the Hollanders have formerly (as was in part intimated but now) done something towards the Conversion of those Indians where they have Plantations settled. For they have caused some part of the Scripture to be Translated into the Indian Language, and have out of their publick Treasuries maintained some Learned and meet Persons, on purpose, that they might become Preachers to the Indians : Nevertheless, Voetius in his difsertation de plantatoribus Ecclefiarum, greatly bewaileth it, that no more care hath been taken about that concern of the Gospel and Kingdom of Christ; and declareth what were the unhappy obstructions, hindring the Belgick Churches, from attaining a further progress in a work so desirable; but (as he there speaketh) Infanda illa nibil attinet bic referre. And I know not, but that the Lords holy Defign in the War which he hath brought upon us, may (in part) be to punish us for our too great neglect in this matter. I would not detract from what hath been done that way, but rather with my Soul bless God for it. It is well known, that fundry of the Lords Servants in this Land, have laboured in that work : Especially Reverend Mr. Eliot hath taken most indefatigable pains, having Translated the whole Bible into the Indian Language, in which respect New-England (let Christ alone have the praise of it) hath out-done all other places, so far as I have heard or read. But it cannot be long, before that faithful, and now aged Servant of the Lord rest from his Labours: Sad will it be for the succeeding Generation, if they shall suffer the Work of Christ amongst the Indians, to die with him who began it. Sed meliora Speramus.

I shall add no more, but leave the success of this undertaking to him, who alone can give it. And I earnestly defire the Prayers of every Godly.

Reader.

N D I A N S

NEW-ENGLAND.

HAT the Heathen People amongst whom we live, and whose Land the Lord God of our Fathers hath given to us for a rightful Possession, have at sundry times been Plotting mischievous Devices against that part of the English Ifrael, which is seated in these goings down of the Sun, no man that is an Inhabitant of any considerable standing, can be ignorant. Especially that there have been (Nec injuria) Jealousies concerning the Narragansets and Wompanoags, is notoriously known to all men. And whereas they have been quiet until the last Year, that must be ascribed to the wonderful Providence of God, who did (as with Facob of old, and after that with the Children of Israel) lay the fear of the English, and the dread of them upon all the Indians. The terror of God was upon them round about. Nor indeed had they such Advantages in former Years as now they have, in respect of Arms and Ammunition; their Bows and Arrows not being comparably fuch weapons of death and destruction, as our Guns and Swords are, with which uameloris arkitti kan e ${f A}$ a q ${f b}$ they have been unhappily furnished. Nor were our fins ripe for so dreadful a Judgment, until the Body of the first Generation was removed, and another Generation risen up which hath not so pursued, as ought to have been, the bleffed defign of their Fathers, in following the Lord into this Wilderness, whilst it was a Land not sown.

As for the Grounds, Jutiness, and Necessity of the present War with Read the Postscript these Barbarous Creatures which have set upon us, my defign is not to inlarge upon that Argument, but to leave that to others whom it mostly concerns, only in brief History. this. The irruption of this flame at this time was occasioned as followeth.

In the latter end of the Year 1674. An Indian, called John Sausaman, who had submitted himself unto, and was taken under the protection of the English, perceiving that the profane Indians were hatching mischief against the English, he faithfully acquainted the Governor of Plymouth, with what he knew, and also what his fears were, together with the grounds thereof, withal declaring; that he doubted such and such Indians belonging to Philip the Sachem of Pokanoket, or Mount-hope, would murder him; which quickly hapned accordingly: For foon after this, John Saufaman was barbaroufly murthered by an Indian, called Tobias (one of Philip's chief Captains and Counfellors) and by his Son, and another Indian, who knocked him on the head and then left him on the Ice on a great Pond. Divine providence, which useth to bring Murder to light, so ordered, as that an Indian unseen by those three that killed Saufaman, beheld all that they did to him, and spake of it, so as that a Praying (and as there is cause to hope) a godly Indian, William Nabauton by name, heard of it, and he forthwith revealed what he knew to the English. Whereupon the three Indians who had committed the murder were apprehended, and the other Indian testified to their faces, that he saw them killing Sausaman. They had a fair Tiyal for their Lives, and that no appearance of wrong might be, Indians as well as English sate upon the Jury, and all agreed to the condemnation of those Murtherers, who were accordingly Executed in the beginning of the 4th Month called Fune, Anno They floutly denied the Fact, only at last Tobias's son confessed, that his Father and the other Indian killed Saufaman, but that himself had no hand in it, only flood by and faw them do it.

No doubt but one reason why the Indians murdered John Sausaman, was out of hatred against him for his Religion, for he was Christianized and babtiz'd, and was a Preacher amongst the Indians, being of very excellent parts, he translated some part of the Bible into the Indian language, and was wont to curb those Indians that knew not God, on the account of their debaucheries; but the main ground why they murthered him feems to be, because he discovered their subtle and malicious designs, which they were

complotting against the English. Philip perceiving that the Court of Plymouth had Condemned and Executed one of his Counsellors, being (as is upon strong grounds supposed) conscious of the murder committed upon John Sansaman, must needs think that ere long, they would do to him (who had no less deserved it) as they had done to his Counsellor: Wherefore he, contrary to his Covenant and Faith engaged to Plymouth Colony, yea, and contrary to his promise unto some in this Colony (for about five Years ago, Philip made a disturbance in Plymouth Colony, but was quieted by the prudent interposition of some in our Colony, when he engaged, that if at any time hereafter he should think the English among whom he lived did him wrong, he would not cause any Disquietment before such time as he had acquainted the English of Mattachusets, but contrary to these solemn engagements he) doth call his Men together and Arm them, and refused to come when fent for, by the Authority of Plymouth, unto whose Government he had subjected himself.

Hereupon the English in Plymouth Jurisdiction, sent a small Army to those Towns next Mount-hope, in order to reducing Philip to his obedience, and for the security of those places which were in great danger, and in no less fear, by reason of the insolency of the Heathen.

June 24. (Midsummer-day) was appointed and attended as a day of solemn Humiliation throughout that Colony, by fasting and praying, to intreat the Lord to give success to the present Expedition respecting the Enemy. At the conclusion of that day of Humiliation, as soon as ever the People in Swanzy were come from the place where they had been praying together, the Indians discharged a volley of shot, whereby they killed one man, and wounded others. Two men were sent to call a Surgeon for the relief of the wounded, but the Indians killed them by the way: And in another part of the Town, fix men were killed, so that there were Nine Englishmen murthered this day.

Thus did the War begin, this being the first English blood which was spilt by the Indians in an Hostile way. The Providence of God is deeply to be observed, that the Sword should be first drawn upon a day of Humiliation, the Lord thereby declaring from Heaven, that he expects something else from his People besides Fasting and Prayer.

Plymouth being thus suddenly involved in trouble, send to the other united Colonies for aid, and their defires were with all readiness complied with. Souldiers marched out of Boston towards Mount-hope, June 26th, and continued marching that night, when there hapned a great Eclipse of the Moon, which was totally darkned above an hour. Only it must be remembred, that some days before any Souldiers went out of Boston, Commissioners were sent to Treat with Philip, that so if possible, ingaging in a War might be prevented. But when the Commissioners came near to Mount-hope, they sound divers Englishmen on the ground, weltering in their own blood, having been newly murdered by the Indians, so that they could not proceed surther. Yea, the Indians killed a man of this Colony as he was travelling on the road before such time as we took up Arms: In which respect no man can doubt of the justness of our Cause, since the Enemy did shed the blood of some of ours who never did them (our Enemies themselves being judges) the least wrong before we did at all offend them, or attempt any act of hostility towards them.

June 29th was a day of publick Humiliation in this Colony, appointed by the Council, in respect of the War which is now begun.

This morning our Army would have ingaged with the Enemy. The Indians shot the Pilot, who was directing our Souldiers in their way to Philips. Country, and wounded several of our Men, and ran into Swamps, rainy weather hindred a further pursuit of the Enemy. An awful Providence happened at this time: For a Souldier (a stout man) who was sent from Water-town, seeing the English Guide slain, and hearing many profane oaths among some of our Souldiers (namely those Privateers, who were also Volunteers) and considering the unseasonableness of the weather was such, as that nothing could be done against the Enemy; this man was possessed with a strong conceit, that God was against the English; whereupon he immediately ran distracted, and so was returned home a lamentable Spectacle.

In the beginning of July, there was another Skirmish with the Enemy, wherein several of the Indians were killed, amongst whom were Philips chief Captain, and one of his Counfellors.

Now it appears that Squaw-Sachem of Pocasset, her men were conjoyned with the Womponoags (that is Philips men) in this Rebellion.

About this time they killed several English at Taunton, and Burnt divers Houses there. Also at Swanzy, they caused about half the Town to be confumed with merciles Flames. Likewise Middlebury and Dartmouth, in Plimouth Colony, did they burn with Fire, and barbarously murdered both men and women in those places, stripping the slain, whether Men or Women, and leaving them in the open Field, as naked as in the day wherein they were born. Such also is their Inhumanity, as that they slay off the skin from their Faces and Heads of those they get into their hands, and go away with the hairy Scalp of their Enemies.

July 19. Our Army pursued Philip, who sted unto a dismal Swamp for refuge: The English Souldiers followed him, and killed many of his men, also about fifteen of the English were then slain. The Swamp was so Boggy, and thick of Bushes, as that it was judged to proceed further therein would be but to throw away Mens lives. It could not there be discerned who were English, and who the Indians. Our Men when in that hideous place if they did but see a Bush stir would fire presently, whereby 'tis verily seared, that' they did sometimes unhappily shoot English Men instead of Indians. Wherefore a Retreat was founded, and night coming on, the Army withdrew from that place. This was because the desperate Distress which the Enemy was in was unknown to us, for the Indians have fince said, that if the English had continued at the Swamp all night, nay, if they had but followed them but one half hour longer, Philip had come and yielded up himself. But God faw that we were not yet fit for Deliverance, nor could Health be restored unto us except a great deal more Blood be first taken from us: and other places as well as Plimouth stood in need of such a Course to be taken with It might rationally be conjectured, that the unfuccessfulness of this Expedition against Philip would embolden the Heathen in other parts to do as he had done, and so it came to pass. For July 14. the Nipnep (or Nipmuck) Indians began their mischief at a Town called Mendam (had we amended our ways as we should have done, this Misery might have been prevented) where they committed Barbarous Murders. This day deserves to have a Remark fet upon it, confidering that Blood was never shed in Massachusets Colony in a way of Hostility before this day. Moreover the Providence of God herein is the more awful and tremendous, in that this very day the Church in Dorchester was before the Lord, humbling themselves by Fasting and Prayer, on account of the Day of trouble now begun amongst us.

The news of this Blood-shed came to us at Boston the next day in Lecture time, in the midst of the Sermon, the Scripture then improved being that Isai. 42.24. Who gave facob to the spoil, and Israel to the robbers? did not the Lord, be against whom we have sinned?

As yet Philip kept in the Swamp at Pocasset, but August 1: (being the Lords day) he fled. The English hearing that Philip was upon slight pursued him with a party of Monhegins, i. e, Unkus (who approved himself faithful to the English almost forty years ago in the time of the Pegund Wars, and now also in this present War) his Indians, They overtook Philips Party and killed about thirty of his men, none of ours being at that time cut off. Had the English pursued the Enemy they might easily have overtaken the Women and Children that were with Philip, yea and himself also, and so have put an end to these tumults: but though Deliverance was according to all Homane probability near, God saw it not good for us as yet. Wherefore Philip escaped and went to the Nipmuck Indians, who had newly (as hath been intimated) done Acts of Hostility against the English. In the mean while endeavours were used to keep those Indians from engaging in this War, and that those persons who had committed the Murder at Mendam might be delivered up to Justice. Captain Hutchinson with a small party was sent to Quabaog, where there was a great Rendezvouze of Nipnep Indians. They appointed time and place of Treaty to be attended, August 2. Accordingly Captain Hutchinson rode to the Place fixed on to Treat in. But the Indians came not thither according to their Agreement, whereupon Captain Hutchinson resolved to go further to seek after them elsewhere, and as he was riding along, the Perfidious Indians lying in Ambuscado in a Swamp, shot at him and wounded him, of which Wounds he after dyed, and eight men that were with him were struck down dead upon the place. Captain Wheeler who was in that Company was shot through the Arm, his dutiful Son alighting to relieve his Father, was himself shot and forely wounded, willingly hazarding his own life to fave the life of his Father. The English were not in a capacity to look after their dead, but those dead bodies were left as meat for the Fowls of Heaven, and their Flesh unto the Beasts of the Earth, and there was none to bury them.

Captain Hutchinson and the rest that escaped with their lives, hastened to Quabaog, and the Indians speedily followed, violently set upon the Town, killed divers, burning all the Houses therein down to the ground, except only one unto which the Inhabitants fled for fuccour, and now also (as fince we have understood) did Philip with his broken Party come to Quabaog. Hundreds of Indians beset the House, and took possession of a Barn belonging thereunto,, from whence they often shot into the House, and also attempted to fire it fix times, but could not prevail, at last they took a Cart full of Flax and other combustible matter, and brought it near the House, intending to fet it on fire; and then there was no appearing possibility, but all the English there, Men and Women, and Children mult have perished, either by unmerciful flames, or more unmerciful hands of wicked Men, whose tender Mercies are cruelties, so that all hope that they should be saved was then taken away: but behold in this Mount of Difficulty and Extremity () the Lord is feen.

For in the very nick of opportunity God fent that worthy Major Willard, who with forty and eight men fet upon the Indians and caused them to turn their backs, so that poor People who were given up for dead, had their lives given them for a prey. Surely this was a token for good, that however we may be diminished and brought low through Oppression, Affliction, and Sorrow, yet our God will have compation on us, and this his People shall not utterly perish. And this Salvation is the more remarkable, for that albeit the Indians had ordered Scouts to ly in the way, and to give notice by firmg firing three Guns, if any English came to the relief of the Distressed; yet although the Scouts fired when Major Willard and his Souldiers were past them, the Indians were so busie and made such a noise about the House that they heard not the report of those Guns; which if they had heard, in all probability not only the People then living at Quabaog, but those also that came to succour them had been cut off.

Things being brought to this state, the Tumult of those that are risen up increaseth continually: For August 22. being the Lords Day, the Indians about Lancaster killed a Min and his Wife and two Children in the afternoon Exercise. And we hear that Philip and the Quaboag Indians are gone more Westward, not far from North-hampton, Hadly, Deer field, &c. Whereupon Forces are sent from hence under the command of Captain Lothrop, Captain Beers, and after that Captain Mosely, to relieve those distressed Towns, and pursue the enemy. Also our Brethren at Connecticut afforded their Affistance, Major Treat being sent to Hadly with a party of English, and some of Unkas his Men. The Indians inhabiting about Connecticut River pretended great fidelity to the English, and that they would fight against Philip, who it feems had been tampering with them in the Spring before the War broke out, endeavouring by money (i.e. Wamp ampe 1g which is the Indians Money) to engage them in his bloody defign against the English.

At first they were so far credited as to be Armed by the English, hoping they might do good service as the Minhegins and Natick Indians had done But within a while their Treachery was justly suspected. Whereupon Souls diers were sent (on or about August 25.) to demand their Arms. They were then gone out of their Forts, our Men searching after them, they suddenly shot out of a Swamp, and after that an hot dispute continued for some hours. How many Indians were flain we know not, but nine English fell that day: wherein this Providence is observable, that those nine men which were killed at that time belonged to nine several Towns; as if the Lord should fay, that he hath a controversie with every Plantation, and therefore all had need to repent and reform their ways.

Now the English have a multitude of open enemies more than when this trouble began, so that greater desolations are now expected.

Wherefore September 1. the Indians set upon Deersteld (alias Pacompmck) and killed one man, and laid most of the Houses in that new hopeful Plantation in ruinous heaps. That which addeth folemnity and awfulness to that Desolation, is, that it happened on the very day when one of the Churches in Boston were seeking the face of God by Fasting and Prayer before him. Also that very day the Church in Hadly was before the Lord in the same way, but were driven from the Holy Service they were attending. by

by a most sudden and violent Alarm, which routed them the whole day after. So that we may humbly complain, as sometimes the Church did, how long haft thou smoaked you against the Prayers of thy People? Not long after this Captain Beers with a confiderable part of his men fell before the Enemy. Concerning the state of those parts at this time until September 15. I received information from a good hand, whilst things were fresh in memory, which I shall here insert, as containing a brief History of the Transactions which happened within the time mentioned; those parts being then the Seat of the War: the Letter which I intend is that which followeth.

Reverend and dear Brother

"I received yours, wherein among other things you defire an account of " the paffages of our War with the Indians: I shall in answer to your desire " relate the most remarkable passages: The people here having many causes " of jealousie, of the unfaithfulnels of our Indians presented the same be-" fore the Committees of the Militia, whereupon it was thought meet to de-6' fire of them the furrendry of their Arms, and by perswasion obtained a-"bout nine and twenty: But about three days after they being defirous to " go forth with some Forces from Harford, both Indians and English, and " some from the Bay in pursuit of Philip, their Arms were delivered to them st again : but a while after their return, jealousies still increasing, there was a general desire in the People of these three Towns, that they should be cc again disarmed, and such things as these were presented to the Council "here, as inducing thereunto: 1. That when they heard of the Maffacre at Quabang, they made in the Fort eleven Acclamations of joy, according "to the number of our men that were flain. 2. A Frenchman that was co going to Boston gave Testimony that he met three Indians that told him they were coming to perswade North-Hampton Indians to fight with Phi-"lip, and that at his return he askt our Indians whether they would fight, "they said they could not tell. 3. One of their Sachims owned that there were several among them false to the English, but would not tell who thy were. 4. A Woman of ours was warned by a Squam to remove with her "Children into the middle of the Town: told her withal, she durst not tell " News, for if the did the Indians would cut off her head. 5. Some of theirs "gave out very suspicious Expressions; one upbraided the English, that "Coy was dead already, and Eyer and Pritchet were dead already; faid "further that the Indians went out to find Philip with the English, that when Philip was fighting with them in the front, they might fall on them "in the rear: another faid the reason why he went not out with the Army was that he might help to delroy the English at home: another threamed

" a Maid of our Town to knock her on the head. 6. When they were out " with our Army, they shewed much unwillingness to fight, alledging they " must not fight against their Mothers and Brothers and Cousins (for Qua-" baog Indians are related unto them.) 7. Unkas his fon, who went out the "fame time, complained that our Indians had almost spoiled his, and that the " English were blind and could not see the falshood of these Indians. 8. They " shot bullets five several times at our men in diverse places. Other things too many to numerate were presented, and the Council saw cause to de-"mand their Arms, Aug. 24. They made some Objections, but were fully "answered: The Sachem left the Council to try whether he could per-" fwade the Indians, promising however to bring in his own. In the af-" ternoon the Council sent to the Fort for their answer: they told the "Messenger that some Indians were abroad in the Meadows, and they were "not willing to deliver up their Arms without their confent: but in the "morning they should have their answer. The Messenger was defired to "go again to them in the evening, to confer with them, to try whether "he could perswade them, and coming to the other side of the River, wisht "fome of them to come over: they bid him come over to them, and bid "him kifs - Whereupon Captain Losbrop and Beers, with whom the "thing was left, intended to take their Arms by force, and at midnight fent " over to our officers, to draw as night he Fort as they could without being " perceived, and they would do the like on Hatfield fide, and so at break of "day come upon them: but before they came the Indians were fled, having "killed an old Sachem that was not willing to go with them. The Captains "refolved to follow them, and pursued a great pace after them, with about an "hundred men, having fent back a part of ours for a Guard of the Town, A " little before they overtook the Indians, they heard two strange claps of "Thunder, like two volleys of shot; at length they saw a single Indian, but " fhot not at him, though they might have killed him, because they intended "to parly with them: but on a sudden the Indians let fly about forty Guns "at them, and was foon answered by a volley from our men; about forty " ran down into the Swamp after them, poured in shot upon them, made "them throw down much of their luggage, and after a while our Men af-" ter the Indian manner got behind trees, and watcht their opportunities " to make shots at them; the Fight continued about three hours, we lost fix " men upon the ground, though one was thot in the back by our own men, "a seventh died of his wound coming home, and two died the next night, "nine in all, of nine several Towns, every one of these Towns lost a man: " Of the Indians as we hear since by a Squam that was taken, and by three "Children that came to our Town from them the day after, there were flain ce twenetwenty fix: the same day there was an Indian that lodged in our Town the night before, taken by our men, and a Squam that belonged to our Ge Fort that was coming from Spring-field; they both own that our Indians received Wompam from Philip in the Spring, to ingage them in the War. "The fellow also owns that there were seven of our Indians that went to "Quabaog, where they heard that they intended to fight. After this fight "we heard no more of them till the first of September, when they shot down a Garrison Souldier of Pacomptuck that was looking after his horse, and "ran violently up into the Town, many people having scarcely time enough " to get into the Garrisons. That day they burnt most of their houses and " barns, the Garrisons not being strong enough to fally out upon them, but "killed two of their men from the Forts. The next day they fet upon several men that were gone out of the Fort at Squakheag, they flew eight of our men, not above one of them being flain that we know of, but made no "attempt upon the Fort. The next day (this Onset being unknown) Capt.

It feems Capt. Beers and those 26 menthat were with him fought couragiously till their powder and shot was Spent, theu the Indians frevailed over them so as to kill above [20 of them, only 13 escaped with their lives, at which time a Cart with Some Ammunition fell into the hands of the enemy.

"Beers fet forth with about thirty fix men and " fome Carts to fetch off the Garrison at Squakbeag, "and coming within three miles of the Place, the "next morning were fet upon by a great number of Indians from the fide of a Swamp, where was "an hot Dispute for some time: They having lost their Captain and some others, resolved at last to "fly, and going to take horse lost several men more, "I think about twelve: the most that escaped got to Hadly that evening: next morning another " came in, and at night another that had been taken "by the Indians, and loofed from his bonds by a Natick Indian, he tells the "Indians were all drunk that night, that they mourned much for the loss of "a great Captain, that the English had killed twenty five of their men. Six "days after another Souldier came in, who had been loft ever fince the fight, "and was almost famished, and so lost his understanding that he knew not

" what day the fight was on.

On the 5th of September Major Treat let forth for Squakheag with above "an hundred men, next day coming nigh Squakheag, his men were much "daunted to see the heads of Captain Beers's Souldiers upon Poles by "the way fide; but after they were come to Squakheag, some partyes of "them went into the Meadow, but hearing some Guns about the Fort, they " ran up to see what the matter was, but by the way were fired upon by a-"bout fourteen Indians as they judge out of the Bushes: one or two Indians "were slain; Major Treat was struck upon the thigh, the bullet pierced cloaths, but had lost its force, and did him no harm: coming to the Fort, he called his Council together, and concluded forthwith to bring off the Garrison: so they came away the same night, leaving the Cattel there, and the dead bodies unburied : fince which, seventeen of their Cattel came a great part of the way themselves, and have fince been setcht into Hadly.

'Upon the 12th of this month the Indians made an affault upon twenty two men of Pocomptuck, that were going from one Garrison to the other to Meeting in the afternoon; made a great volley of shot at them, but killed one one man, they escaped to the Garrison whether they were going, only one man running to the other Garrison was taken alive: The Indians cook up their Rendezvouze on an hill in the meadow burnt two more hou-· fes, killed many horses, carried away horse-loads of beef and pork to the hill: they fent the same night for more aid, but partly through the strict-'ness of the Commission of our Garrison Souldiers, or at least their interpretation of it, and partly through the wetness of the weather, there was nothing done that night: the next day we perswaded some of our Inhabitants to go Volunteers, and fent to Hadly to do the like, who going up with some of Captain Louibrops souldiers, joyned themselves to the Garrison at Pocomptuck, and on Tuesday very early went out to assault the In-' dians, but they were all fled. Last night Captain Mosely with his men came into Hadly, and this night we expect more Forces from Hartford.

If the Lord give not some sudden check to these Indians, it is to be feared that most of the Indians in the Country will rise.

'I desire you would speak to the Governour, that there may be some thorough Care for a Reformation, I am sensible there are many difficulties therein: many fins are grown so in fashion, that it becomes a question whether they be fins or no. I desire you would especially mention, Oppression, that intolerable Pride in cloaths and hair: the toleration of io 'many Taverns, especially in Boston, and suffering home-dwellers to lye tipling in them. Let me hear foon from you: the Lord bless you and your Labours; forget us not at the Throne of Grace. It would be a dreadful 'Token of the Displeasure of God, if these afflictions passaway without 6 much spiritual advantage. I thought to have written somewhat more · large with respect to Reformation, but I hope I need not, you will I pre-' sume be forward of your self therein.

Not many days after this Letter was written, the English received a fadder rebuke of Providence, than any thing that hitherto had been. For September 18. Captain Lothrop (a godly and couragious Commander) with above seventy men were sent to be as a Guard to some that were coming from Deerfield with Carts loaden with Goods and Provision, to be removed to Hadly, for security: But as they were coming, the Indians, whose cruel Habitations are the dark corners of the Earth, lurked in the Swamps, and multitudes of them made a sudden and frightful affault. They seized upon the Carts and Goods (many of the Souldiers having been so foolish and secure, as to put their Arms in the Carts, and step aside to gather Grapes, which proved dear and deadly Grapes to them) killed Captain Lothrop, and above threescore of his men, stripped them of their Cloths, and so left them to lye weltring in their own Blood. Captain Mosely who was gone out to range the Woods, hearing the Guns, hastened to their help, but before he could come, the other Captain and his men were flain, as hath been expreffed. Nevertheless he gave the Indians Battle, they were in such numbers. as that he and his company were in extreme danger, the Indians indeavouring (according to their mode of fighting) to encompass the English round, and then to press in upon them with great numbers, so to knock them down with their Hatchets. In the nick of time Major Treat, with above an hundred men, and threescore of Unkas his Indians came in to succour those that were so beset with the Enemy, whereupon the Enemy presently retreated, and night coming on, there was no pursuing of them. In this fight but few of Captain Mosely's men were flain. How many Indians were killed is uncertain, it being their manner to draw away their dead men, as fast as they are killed, if possibly they can do it; yea they will venture their own lives for that end, which they do out of policy, that so their enemies may think, that few or none of them are killed, when nevertheless they have lost many. I am informed that some of the Indians have reported that they lost ninety fix men that day, and that they had above forty wounded, many of which dyed afterwards. However, this was a black and fatal day, wherein there were eight persons made Widows, and fix and twenty Children made Fatherless: all in one little Plantation, and in one day; and above fixty Persons buried in one dreadful Grave. And this was the state of the Western parts in respect of the War with the Heathen.

We must now take a step backwards, and a little consider the Eastern Plantations. For in the Month of September did the stame break out there. Some who had their hearts exercised in discerning things of that nature, were from the beginning of the War, not without sad apprehensions concerning the Inhabitants in those parts of the Country, in that they were a fcattered People, and such as had many of them scandalized the Heathen, and lived themselves too like unto the Heathen, without any Instituted Ordinances, also the Indians thereabouts were more numerous than in some other places. They began their outrages, at the House of one Mr. Purchase, who had been a great Trader with the Indians. After that they came to the House of an old Man in Casco-Bay, whose name was Wakely. Him with his Wife, Son, and Daughter in law (who was great with Child) and two Grandchildren, they cruelly Murdered, and took three Children alive, and led them into Captivity.

This old Wakely was effected a godly Man. He would fomet mes fay with tears, that he believed God was angry with him, because although he came into New-England for the Gospels sake, yet he had left another place in this Country, where there was a Church of Christ, which he once was in Communion with, and had lived many Years in a Plantation, where was no Church, nor Instituted Worship. If a Faithful Minister of Christ happened to Preach in Casco, he would with much affection entertain him, saying, Bleffed is be that cometh in the Name of the Lord. After this good man was murdered by the Indians, they quickly did more mischies: So that in Falmouth there were five Houses burnt, four Men, two Women, and two Children killed, and three Children carried away Captive. After this, they fet upon Sacoe, where they flew thirteen Men, and at last burnt the Town. cipal Actor in the destruction of Sacre was a strange Enthusiastical Sagamore, called Squando, who some years before, pretended that God appeared to him, in the form of a tall Man, in black Clothes, declaring to him that he was God, and commanded him to leave his Drinking of strong Liquors, and to pray, and to keep Sabbaths, and to go to hear the Word Preached; all which things the Indian did for some years, with great seeming Devotion and Conscience observe. But the God which appeared to him, faid nothing to him about Jesus Christ; and therefore it is not to be marvelled at, that at last he difcovered himself to be no otherwise than a Child of him, that was a Murderer and a Lvar from the beginning. Also these inraged Barbarians, being animated with their fuccels at Falmouth and Sacoe, they went to Black-Point, and there killed fix Men and a Woman, and burnt two and twenty dwelling Houses. In the mean time, the English at Kenebeck, endeavoured that the Indians in those parts might be kept from joyning in this Insurrection, whereto they were tempted and folicited by their Neighbours. The prudent endeavours of the English proved happily successful, insomuch as the Sachems there, brought Presents with great Protestations of Amity and Fidelity, and defired that no more Liquors might be fold to the Indians; professing that that was a principal cause of the mischiefs that had been done, and that they were not able to keep their Men in subjection, when once they were become mad with Drink.

After these things, the Indians killed two men at Kittery, and stripped them. Lieutenant Playster, with twenty two English, went out to setch off the dead Bodies, and to bury them; as they were putting one of them into the Cart, suddenly a small party of Indians shot out of a Swamp. And the greatest part of the English did unworthily forsake their Leader in that hazard, only seven remained with him. He thinking his Men had been near at hand, saced the Enemy, killed and wounded many of them; but the Indians perceiving that all but seven of the English were sled, took courage and killed Mr. Playster (who was a good and useful man) and one of his Sons, and another man: The other four seeing that, ran for their lives, and so escaped until they came safe into a Garrison, which was not far off.

Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth. This fire which in June was but a little Spark, in three Months time is become a great Flame, that from East to West, the whole Country is involved in great trouble; and the Lord himself seemeth to be against us, to cast us off, and to put us to shame, and goeth not forth with our Armies. Wherefore the Magistrates of this Jurisdiction, earnestly called upon the Inhabitants thereof, to humble themselves before the Lord, and to confess and turn from transgression. Inassmuch as the expressions contained in that Paper, which was at this time published by the Councils Order, for a day of Publick Humiliation, to be observed through this Jurisdiction, are most serious, and gracious, and greatly expressive of the sinful Degenerate Estate of the present Generation in New-England, and that Declaration will turn for a Testimony to our faithful Rulers, both now and hereafter; considering also, that it is in but sew hands, I shall therefore here insert, and republishit. 'Tis that which followeth.

Held at Boston, Sept. 17. 1675.

Thaving pleased the Holy God (all whose Works are Truth, and his Ways I Judgment) for our sins, whereby be bath been provoked, in special by the undervaluation of our pleasant things great unthank fulness for, and manifold abuses of our wonderful Peace, and the blessings of it in this good Land which the Lord hath given us: Ill entertainment of the Ministry of the precious Gospel of Peace: Leaving our first love, dealing faisly in the Covenant of the Lord our God: The Apostacy of many from the Truth unto Heresies, and pernicious Errors: Great Formality inordinate Affection, and sinful Conformity to this present evil vain World: And (beside many borrid and scandalous sins breaking forth among us, for which we have cause to be greatly humbled before the Lord)our great unsensibleness of the Displeasure of the Lord, in suffering these Abominations to be perpetuated; together with our carnal Security, and unquietness under the judgments of God upon us, our abiding very much unreformed, notwithstanding all Warnings, and Chastisements, whereby the Lord hath been, and is still debating with us, we having greatly incensed him to stir up many Adversaries against us, not only abroad, but also at our own Doors (causing the Heathen in this Wilders. ness to be as Thorns in our sides, who have formerly been, and might still be a wall unto us therein; and others also to become a Scourge unto us) the Lord himself also more immediately afflicting us by Diseases, whereof so many Children in some of our Towns have died this Summer. His not going forth with our Armies as in former times, but giving up many of our Brethren to the mouth of the devouring Sword, yea, shewing himself angry with the Prayers of his People: Threatning us also with scarcity of Provision, and other Calamities, especially if this present War with the Barbarous Heathen should continue; and that the Lord of Hosts withdraw not the Commission he hath given to the Sword, and other Judgments to prevail against us.

The Governour and Council of this Jurisdiction therefore (being under the sense of these evils, and also of the distressed state of the rest of the Colonies confederate with our selves, and of the Churches of Christian other parts of the Christian World, in this day of Trouble, Rebukes, and Blasphemy; And searing the sad issue thereof, unless the Lord help us with our whole heart, and not seignedly, to turn unto himself) Do Appoint and Order the seventh day of the next Month, to be a Day of Publick Humiliation, with Fasting and Prayer, throughout this whole Colony; that we may set our selves sincerely to seek the Lord, rending our hearts, and not our Garments before him, and pursue the same with a through Resonmation of what ever hath been, or is an Image of Jealousie before the Lord to offend the Eyes of his Glory; if so be, the Lord may turn from his sierce anger, that we perish not: We do therefore require all the Inhabitants of this Jurisdiction, to forbear service Labour upon that day, and that they apply themselves respectively to observe the same, as is appointed.

By the Council, Edward Rawson Secret.

October the 7th. This day of Humiliation appointed by the Council, was folerably observed: Yet attended with awful testimonies of Divine displeature. The very next day after this Fast was agreed upon by those in Civil Authority, was that dismal and fatal blow, when Captain Lothorp and his Company (in all near upon sourcore souls) were slaughtered, whereby the Heathen were wonderfully animated, some of them triumphing and saying, That so great slaughter was never known: And indeed in their Wars, one with another, the like hath rarely been heard of. And that very day when this Fast was kept, three Persons were killed by the Indians near Dover, one of them going from the publick Worship. Also that very day at the close of it, the sad tidings of Spring fields Calamity came to us here in Boston. And inasmuh inafmuch as this news came at the conclusion of a day of Humiliation, surely the folemn voice of God to New-England is still as formerly, Praying without Reforming will not do. And now is the day come wherein the Lord is rulfilling the word which himself hath spoken, saying, I will send wild Beasts among you, which thall rob you of your Children, and deftroy your Cattle, and make you few in number, and if you will not be reform'd by these things, I will bring your Sanctuaries to Defolation, and I will not smell the sweet Savor of your Odours. The Providence of God is never to be forgotten, in that Churches have been figually spared for so long a time. Although some Plantations wherein Churches have been settled were in most eminent danger, and the Enemy might easily have swallowed them up, yet God so ordered that they received little or no detriment, when other places were laid utterly waste, the Lord manifesting how loth he was to disgrace the Throne of his Glory, but now he begins with the Sanctuary. As for Springfields misery, it thus came to pass: Whereas there was a body of Indians that lived in a Fort near to that Town of Springfield, and professed nothing but Friendship towards the English; they treacherously brake in upon the Town, when a party of our Souldiers who had been there, were newly gone to Hadly. They killed several, amongst others their Lieutenant Cooper was most perfidiously Murthered by them, without the least occasion or Provocation given. They burnt down to the ground above thirty dwelling-houses; and above twenty out-houses: amongst others, Mr. Pelatiah Glover, Teacher of the Church there, is a great sufferer, his House, and Goods, and Books, and Writings being all confumed in one hour. Nevertheless there was a great mixture of mercy in this dark and difficultation. For God To ordered, as that an Indian who knew what was deligned the next day, ran away in the night, and acquainted the English therewith, whence they had time and opportunity to escape to an house that was Fortified; otherwife in probability the Inhabitants had furely had their lives as well as their dwelling places cut off.

October 13. The General Court fat in Boston, during this Selfion, a Committee was with the concurrence of both Houses appointed in order to a Reformation of those Evils which have provoked the Lord to bring the Sword upon us, and to withdraw from our Armies from time to time. The Attistance of the Teaching Elders in the Churches was desired, as in a case of that nature, it was proper for them to advise and help according to God.

There was a gracious presence of God with them in their consultations, all that were there with one voice agreeing in many particulars, in respectively whereof Reformation should be, and must be: e.g. 'That some effectival course should be taken for the Suppression of those proud Excesses in Appendix of the suppression of those proud Excesses in Appendix of the suppression of those proud Excesses in Appendix of the suppression of those proud Excesses in Appendix of the suppression of those proud Excesses in Appendix of the suppression of those proud Excesses in Appendix of the suppression of those proud Excesses in Appendix of the suppression of the s parel, hair, &c. which many (yea and the poorer fort as well as others) 'are shamefully guilty of. That a due testimony should be born against 'sfuch as are false Worshippers, especially Idolatrous Quakers, who set up Altars against the Lords Altar, yea who set up a Christ whom the Scriptures know not. That whereas excess in drinking is become a common Sin, means should be used to prevent an unnecessary multiplication of Ordinaries, and to keep Town dwellers from frequenting Taverns: and that whereas Swearing hath been frequently heard, they that hear another 'Swear profanely and do not complain of it to Authority, shall be punished for that concealment. Also that some further care should be taken, that the tourth and fifth Commandments be better observed than formerly; and that there may be no more such Oppression, either by Merchants or day-Labourers as heretofore hath been; and that the Indian Trading-houses, whereby the Heathen have been debauched and scandalized against Religion, be suppressed; and that more care should be taken respecting the Rising Generation, than formerly hath been, that they might be brought under the 'discipline of Christ, &c. These things were unanimously consented to.

October 19. The Conclusions of the Committee, respecting Reformation of provoking evils were figured, and delivered into the General Court, who voted acceptance thereof, and appointed another Committee to draw up Laws in order to the establishment of the things agreed on. Now as I remember that famous Martyrologist Mr. Fox (in Acts and Monuments, vol. 2. pag. 669.) observes, with respect to the Reformation in K. Edward VI. his days, that that very day and hour when the Act for Reformation was put in execution at London, God gave the English a figual victory against the Scots at Muscleborough; so it was proportionably with us. For that day when there was a vote paffed for the Suppression and Reformation of those manifest evils, whereby the eyes of Gods Glory are provoked amongst us, the Lord gave fuccess to our Forces, who that day encountred with the Indians at Hatfield. The English lost but one man in the fight (albeit some that were fent forth as Scouts were killed or Captivated) the Enemy fled before them, and ran into the River, many of them being feen to fall, but night coming on, it was in vain to follow them further. And after that day, the Western Plantations had little or no disturbance by them, but lived in quietness all the Winter. All this notwithstanding, we may say as sometimes the Lords People of old, the Harvest is past, the Summer is ended, and we are not faved. The Sword having marched Eastward, and Westward, and Northward, now beginneth to face toward the South again. The Narragansets, who were the greatest body of Indians in New-England; there being no less then six Sachims amongst them; having not as yet appeared in open Holthity.

Hostility. Nevertheless Philips and Squaw-Sackims men, when routed by the English Forces, were harboured amongst the Narragansets. When the Commissioners of the united Colonies sat at Boston, in the latter end of September, one of the Narraganset Sachims, and Messengers from other Sachims there, made their appearance in Boston; they pretended nothing but good-will to the English, and promifed that those Enemies of ours, who had burnt so many houses, and committed so many Murders, and had fled to them for refuge, should be delivered up by the latter end of October. But when the time prefixed for the furrendry of the Wompanoags and Square-Sachems Indians was lapfed, they pretended they could not do as they had ingaged at prefent, but after Winter they would doit. In the mean while, when the English had any ingagement with the Indians, wounded Indians came home to the Narragansets, especially after the fight at Hatfield, Octob. 19. about forty wounded men were feen croffing the woods towards the Narragansets: also some (at least two Indians) from amongst themselves, came to the English, and told them that the Narragansets were resolved (if they could) to destroy the English: but they were loth to begin to fall upon them before Winter, but in the Spring when they should have the leaves of trees and Swamps to befriend them, they would do it: wherefore it was judged necessary to fend out Forces against them, and preparations were made accordingly.

There was some agitation amongst those whom it did concern, where a person suitable for so great a trust might be sound as General; and that worthy Gentleman Josiah Winslow Esq. who succeeds his Father (of blessed memory) as Governour of Plimouth, was pitched upon for this Shrvice.

Under his conduct therefore, an Army confisting of at first a thousand, and at last about fifteen hundred men, were sent forth to execute the venge-ance of the Lord upon the perfidious and bloudy Heathen. But before they set out, the Churches were all upon their knees before the Lord, the God of Armies, intreating his favour and gracious success in that undertaking, wherein the welfare of his people was so greatly concerned. This day of Prayer and Humiliation was observed Decemb. 2. when also something hapned intimating as if the Lord were still angry with our Prayers; for this day all the houses in Quonsickamuck were burnt by the Indians.

Decemb. 8. The Army set out from Boston. Whilst they were upon this march, an Indian whose name was Peter, having received some disgust among his Country-men, came to the English, and discovered the plots of the Indians, told where they were, and promised to conduct the Army to them. They were no sooner arrived in the Narraganset Country, but they killed and took captive above forty Indians. Being come to Mr. Smiths Louise, house, they waited some days for Connecticut Forces. In the mean while a party of the enemy did treacherously get into the house of ferem. Bull (where was a Garison) burned the house, and slew about fourteen persons.

Decemb. 18. Connecticut Forces being come, a March toward the enemy was refolved upon: Peter Indian having informed that the Body of Indians (only Ninnigret being one of their old crafty Sachems, had with some of his men withdrawn himself from the rest, professing that he would not ingage in a War with the English, therefore did he go into a place more remote) was in a Fort about eighteen miles distant from the place where our Army now was. The next day, although it were the Sabbath, yet, provisions being almost spent by our Souldiers, waiting so long for Connecticut Forces, the Council of War resolved to give Battle to the enemy. The English Souldiers played the men wonderfully; the Indians also fought stoutly, but were at last beat out of their Fort, which was taken by the English, There were hundreds of Wigwams (or Indian houses) within the Fort, which our Souldiers set on fire, in the which men, women and children (no man knoweth how many hundreds of them) were burnt to death. Night coming on, a Retreat was founded.

Concerning the number of Indians flain in this Battle, we are uncertain: only some Indians which afterwards were taken prisoners (as also a wretched English man that apostatized to the Heathen, and fought with them againsi his own Country-men but was at last taken and executed) confessed that the next day they found three hundred of their fighting men dead in their Fort, and that many men, women and children were burned in their. Wignams, but they neither knews nor could conjecture how many: it is supposed that not less than a thousand Indian Souls perished at that time. Ninnigret whose men buried the flain, affirmeth that they found twenty and two Indian Captains among the dead bodies. Of the English there were killed and wounded about two hundred and thirty, whereof only eighty and tive persons are dead. But there was a solemn rebuke of Providence at this time, in that fix of our Captains were flain, viz. Captain Johnson of Roxbury, Captain Gardner of Salem, Captain Davenport of Boston (Son to that Captain Davenport who did great Service in the expedition against the Indians in the Pequod War, Anno 1637.) Captain Gallop of New-London, Captain Marshal of Windsor, Captain Seily of Stratford, who dyed of his wounds some days after the fight was over. The three Captains first mentioned, belonged to Mattachusets Colony, the three last to Connecticut, of Plimonth Colony Captain Bradford (one of their faithful Magistrates, and fon of him that was many years Governor there) was forely wounded, but God had mercy on him, and on his people in him, so as to spare his life, and to reftore him to some measure of health, albeit the bullet shot into him is ftill still in his body. Also Captain Goram of Barnstaple in Plimonth Colony sell fick of a fever whereof he died.

Thus did the Lord take away seven Captains out of that Army. Also four Lieutenants were wounded in that Fort-fight, so that though the English had the better of it, yet not without folemn and humbling rebukes of Providence. At night as the Army returned to their quarters a great Snow fell, also part of the Army mist their way, among whom was the General himself with his Life-guard. Had the Enemy known their advantage, and purfued our Soldiers (and we have fince heard that fome of the Indians did earneftly move that it might be so, but others of them through the over-ruling hand of Providence would not confent) when upon their retreat they might eafily have cut off the whole Army: But God would be more gracious to us. Here then was not only a Victory, but also a figual Preservation, for which let the Father of mercies have eternal glory.

After this God seemed to withdraw from the English and take part with the Enemy. The next day the Indians finding but few English men dead in the Fort among their three hundred Indians that were flain, were much troubled and amazed, supposing that no more of ours had been killed; this blow did greatly aftonish them, and had the English immediately pursued the Victory begun, in all likelihood there had been an end of our troubles; but God faw that neither yet were we fit for deliverance. Wherefore Conneclicut forces withdrew to Stonington, and there being so many killed and wounded amongst those that remained in the Narraganset Country, also bread for the Soldiers being wanting, by reason the extremity of the weather was fuch, as that the Vessels laden with Provision could not reach them, therefore the Army lay still some weeks.

In this interval of time the Town of Mendam (which before that had) been forsaken of its Inhabitants) was burnt down by the Indians.

Now doth the Lord Jesus begin solemnly to fulfil his word, in removing Candlesticks out of their places, because of contentions and loss of first love. Surely when those places are destroyed where Churches have been planted; Candlefficks are removed out of their places. But to proceed, when the Army was just upon the resolve to return home, because Provisions were spent, God so ordered, as that a Vessel laden with Victuals arrived, whereupon it was determined ((ເພື່ອເຊັ່) to pursue the Enemy. Only it was thought necessary to defilt from this pursuit until Connecticut forces could return and join with ours. In the interim, a strange sudden Thaw happened in the midst of fanuary (when in New-England the season is wont to be extreme cold) that the flow melted away in a little time: the like weather hath rarely been known in this Land at that time of the year, albeit some of the first Planters say it was so above fifty years ago. However this made wonderfully for the Indians advantage, for now they fied out of the Narraganfet Country, and whereas they had been forely straightned and distressed for victuals, now the snow being wasted, they lived upon Ground-nuts.

In fine, the Army purfued them feveral days, overtook some of them, killed and took about seventy persons, were in sight of the main Body of them, and could they have held out to have pursued them but one day longer probably this unhappy War had then been ended: but the Souldiers were tired with eight days March, and (having spent much of their provision whilst waiting for our Connecticut Brethren) their bread sailed, so as that they were forced to kill horses and feed upon them.

We have often carried it before the Lord as if we would Reform our ways, and yet when it hath come to, we have done nothing: So hath the Lord carried toward us, as if he would deliver us, and yet hath deferred our Salvation, as we our felves have delayed Reformation.

So then February 5. The Army returned to Boston, not having obtained the end of their going forth. It was easie to conjecture that the Narragan-set, and Nipmuck, and Quabaog, and River Indians, being all come together, and the Army returned, they would speedily fall upon the Frontier Towns. And some of the Praying Indians who had been sent out as Spies, and had been with the Indians beyond Quabaog, brought intelligence, that a French Man that came from Canady had been amongst them, animating them against the English, promising a supply of Ammunition, and that they would come next Summer and assist them; also the Indian Spies declared, that there was a design, within such a time to burn Lancaster, which came to pass both as to the time and manner accordingly.

For upon the 10. day of February some hundreds of the Indians fell upon Lancaster, burnt many of the Houses, kill'd and took Captive above forty persons. Mr. Rowlandson (the faithful Pastor of the Church there) had his House, Goods, Books, all burned; his Wife, and all his Children led away Captive before the Enemy. Himself (as God would have it) was not at home, whence his own person was delivered, which otherwise (without a Miracle) would have been endangered. Eight men lost their lives, and were stripped naked by the Indians, because they ventured their lives to fave Mrs. Rowlandson. I then expended by a waste der into a few and

As this good Man returned home (having been at Boston to intercede with the Council that something might be done for the safety of that place) he saw his Lancaster in slames, and his own house burnt down, not having heard of it till his eyes beheld it, and knew not what was become of the Wite of his bostom, and Children of his Bowels. This was a most awful Providence, and hath made me often think on those words, though Noah, Joh and

Daniel were in it, they should deliver but their own souls, they should deliver neither sons nor daughters, they only shall be delivered, but the Land shall be desolate. And this desolation is the more tremendous, in that this very day the Churches Westward were humbling themselves before the Lord. Within a few days after this, certain Indians did some mischies at Malbury, Sud-bury, Chelmsford.

February 21. The Indians affaulted Medfield, and although there were two or three hundred Soldiers there, they burnt half the Town, killed feveral Men, Women and Children (about eighteen in all) amongst others their Lieutenant Adams was slain. And soon after he was killed, his Wife was casually slain by an English-man, whose Gun discharged before he was aware, and the Bustlet therein passed through the Boards over-head, and mortally wounded Lieutenant Adams's Wife. It is a sign God is angry, when he turns our weapons against our selves.

February 23. A day of Humiliation was attended in the old Meeting-house in Boston, but not without much distraction, because of an Alarm, by reason of rumors, as if the Indians were doing mischief within ten miles of Boston.

February 25. This night the Indians fired seven Houses and Barns in Weymouth.

In the beginning of March, another small Army was sent out from Boston, under the conduct of that expert Soldier and Commander Major Savage, to seek out the Enemy. Connecticut Forces met with ours at Quobaog, and they marcht together, but not following the direction of the (Natick) Praying Indians, who were sent as Pilots, the Army mist their way, and was bewildred in the Woods. On a sudden when they thought on no such thing, a party of Indians fired upon them and killed one man, and wounded Mr. Gershom Bulkly, who is Pastor of the Church in Wethersfield; whereupon those Indians were immediately pursued, who hastned towards Northampton. The Army following them thither, mist of the main body of Indians. Nevertheless, there was a singular Providence of God ordering this matter, for the relief of those Western Plantations, which otherwise in probability had been cut off.

For upon the fourteenth of March a multitude of Indians fell upon North-bampton, broke through their Fortification in three places, burnt five houses, and five barns, and killed four Men and one Woman: but the Town being full of Soldiers, the Enemy was quickly repulsed, with the loss of many of their lives.

March 10. Mischief was done, and several lives cut off by the Indians this day, at Groton and at Sudbury. An humbling Providence, inasmuch as many. Churches were this day Fasting and Praying.

March :

March 12. This Sabbath eleven Indians affaulted Mr. William Clark's house in Plimouth, killed his Wife, who was the Daughter of a godly Father and Mother that came to New England on the account of Religion, (See July 6.) and the herfelf also a pious and prudent Woman; they also killed her sucking Ch 11, and knockt another Child (who was about eight years old) in the head, supposing they had killed him, but afterwards he came to himfelf again. And whereas there was another Family besides his own, entertained in Mr. Clark's house, the Indians destroyed them all, root and branch, the Father and Mother and all the Children: fo that eleven persons were murdered that day, under one roof; after which they fet the house on fire. The Leader of these Indians was one Totoson, a fellow who was well acquainted with that house, and had received many kindnesses there, it being the manner of those brutish men, who are only skilful to destroy, to deal worst with those who have done most for them.

March 13. The Indians affaulted Groton, and left but few houses standing. So that this day also another Candlestick was removed out of its place. One of the first houses that the Enemy destroyed in this place, was the House of God, b.e. which was built and fet apart for the celebration of the publick

Worship of God.

When they had done that, they scoffed and blasphemed, and came to Mr. Willard (the worthy Pastor of the Church there) his house (which being fortified, they attempted not to destroy it) and tauntingly said, What will ye do for a house to pray in, now we have burnt your Meeting-House? Thus hath the Enemy done wickedly in the Sanctuary, they have burnt up the Synagogues of God in the Land; they have cast fire into the Sanctuary; they have cast down the dwelling place of his name to the ground. O God, how long shall the Adversary reproach? Shall the Enemy blassheme thy name for ever? why withdrawest thou thine hand, even thy right hand : pluck it out of thy

March 17. This day the Indians fell upon Warwick, and burnt it down to the ground, all but one house. .

March 20, Some of them returned into the Narraganset Country, and burnt down the remaining English Houses there.

We are now come to the conclusion of the year 1675. which hath been the most troublesom year that ever poor New England saw. What ending the present year shall have, is with God, but it hath a most doleful beginning.

For March 26. 1676. being the Sabbath-day, the Indians affaulted Malbury, and confumed a great part of the town; after which the Inhabitants apprehended themselves under a necessity of deserting that place, which was done accordingly; so that here is another Candlestick removed out of his place. This day also, Captain Pierce of Scituate, with a party of about fifty English, and twenty Indians, who were Friends to the English, pursued a small number of the Enemy, who in desperate subtilty ran away from them, and they went limping to make the English believe they were lame, till they had led them into a snare: for suddenly a vast body of Indians did encompass them round; so that Captain Pierce was slain, and forty and nine English with him, and eight (or more) Indians who did assist the English, and fought bravely in that engagement.

How many of the Enemy fell we know not certainly, only we hear that some Indians, which have fince been taken by the English, confess that Captain Pierce, and those with him killed an hundred and forty of them before they loft their own lives.

Upon this Lords-day another fad thing likewise hapned; for near Springfield, there were eighteen English men riding to the Town, to attend the selemn Worship of God on his Holy-day, And although they were Armed, there were seven or eight Indians, who lying in Ambuscado, were so bold as to shoot at them. They killed a Man and a Maid that rode behind him, the English being surprised with fear, rode away to fave their lives: in the mean while the Indians seized upon two women and children, and took them away alive, so that here we have cause to think of Joshuahs words, who faid, O Lord, What shall I say when Israel turns their backs before the Enemies? What shall be said when eighteen English men well arm'd, fly before seven Indians? This feems to argue something of a divine forfaking, and displeafure in Heaven against us. The next day those Indians were pursued, but when the English came in fight those barbarous wretches hasted to run away, but before they knocked the two Children on the head, as they were Sucking their Mothers breasts, and then knocked their Mothers on the head: Nevertheless one of them was alive when the souldiers came to her, and able to give an account of what the Indians had told her. Amongst other particulars, they did affirm to her that there was a Body of about three thousand Indians (no doubt but in that they did hyperbolize) near to Deerfield, and that they had newly received a great supply of powder from the Dutch at Albany: men that worship Mammon, notwithstanding all prohibitions to the contrary, will expose their own and other mens lives unto danger, if they may but gain a little of this worlds good.

March 27. Some of the inhabitants of Sudbury, being alarumed by what the Indians did yesterday to their neighbours in Malbury, apprehending they might come upon the enemy unawares, in case they should march after them in the night time, they resolved to try what might be done, and that not altogether without fuccefs. For towards the morning whilst it was yet dark, they discerned where the Indians lay by their Fires. And such was their boldness, as that about three hundred of them lay all night, within half a mile of one of the garison houses in that Town where they had done such mischief the day before. Albeit the darkness was such as an English man could not be discerned from an Indian, yet ours being forty in number, discharged several times upon the enemy, and (as Indians taken since that time do confess,) God so disposed of the bullets that were shot at that time, that no less than thirty Indians were wounded, of whom there were fourteen that dyed, several of which had been principal actors in the late bloudy Tragedies. They fired hard upon the English, but neither killed nor wounded so much as one man in the Skirmish.

March 28. The Indians burnt about thirty Barns, and near upon forty dwelling Houses in Rehoboth, so that thereby the diffipation and desolation of that Church is greatly threatned.

The next day they burnt about thirty houses at the Town called Providence.

In the beginning of April they did some mischief at Chelmsford and Andover, where a small party of them put the Town into a great fright, caused all the people to sly into Garison-houses, killed one man, and burnt one house. And to shew what barbarous creatures they are, they exercised cruelty towards dumb creatures. They took a Cow, knocked off one of her horns cut out her tongue, and so left the poor creature in great misery. They put an Horse, Ox, &c. into an hovil, and then set it on sire, only to shew how they are delighted in exercising cruelty.

April 9. This day being the Lords day, there was an alarum at Charles-Town, Cambridg, and other Towns, by reason that sundry of the enemy were seen at Billerica, and (it seemeth) had shot a man there. This week we hear from Connecticut, that a party of their Souldiers went with many of the Pequods, and Monhegins, and some of Ninnegrets Indians, to seek after the enemy, and they killed and took captive forty and four Indians without the loss of any of ours: amongst whom were several of their Chief Captains, and their great Sachem called Quanonchet, who was a principal Ring-leader in the Narraganset War, and had as great an interest and influence, as can be said of any among the Indians. This great Sachem was pursued into a River by one of Ninnegret his men, and there taken. Being apprehended he was carried away to Stonington, where the English caused the Pequods and Monhegins, and Ninnegrets Indians, to joyn together in shooting Quanonchet, and cutting off his head, which was sent to Hartford. And herein the English dealt wisely, for by this means, those three Indian Nations are become abominable to the other Indians, and it is now their interest to be faithful to the English, since their own Country-men will never forgive them, on account of their taking and killing the Sachem mentioned: So that there was a gracious smile of providence in this thing, yet not without matter of humbling to us, in that the Sachem was apprehended not by English but by Indian hands.

April 19. The Indians killed a man at Weymouth, and another at Hing-bam. And they burnt down the remaining deferted houses at Malbery.

April 20. A day of Humiliation was observed in Boston. The next day fad tidings came to us. For the enemy fet upon Sudbury, and burnt a great part of the Town, and whereas Captain Wadsworth (a prudent and faithful man) was sent out for their relief with about seventy armed men, a great body of Indians furrounded them, so as that above fifty of ours were slain that day, amongst whom was Captain Wadsmorth and his Lieutenant Sharp. Also Captain Brattlebanck (a godly and choise spirited man) was killed at the same time. Also they took five or six of the English and carried them away alive, but that night killed them in fuch a manner as none but Salvages would have done. For they stripped them naked, and caused them to run the Gauntlet, whipping them after a cruel and bloudy manner, and then threw hot ashes upon them; cut out the flesh of their legs, and put fire into their wounds, delighting to see the miserable torments of wretched creatures. Thus are they the perfect children of the Devil. What numbers the Indians lost in this fight, we know not, only a Captive since escaped out of their hands, affirms that the Indians said one to another, that they had an hundred and twenty fighting men kill'd this day,

The fame day (as is judged fifty) Indians burnt nineteen houses and barns at Situate in Plimouth Colony, but were notably encountred and repelled from doing further mischief by the valor of a few of the inhabitants.

April 24. Skulking Indians did some mischief in Braintry, but the inhabitants received not any confiderable damage by them.

April 27. A finall number of them near Woodcocks who keeps the Ordinary in the Road to Reboboth, watched their opportunity and killed his son, and another man, and greatly wounded another of his sons, and shor himself through the arm, and then burnt his sons house.

At Boston there is a Press in order to sending forth another Army to pursue the enemy; for we hear there is a great body of them near Malbury, (as tis apprehended) of many hundreds.

About this time, in Connecticut Colony, Capt. Dennison with sixty six Volunteers, and an hundred and twelve Pequad-Indians, pursuing the common enemy, took and slew seventy and six Indians. Amongst the slain was the Sachem Pombam his Grand-child, who was also a Sachem, and another Sachem called Chickon, and one great Counsellor. They took and spoiled an hundred and sixty bushels of the Indians Corn. None of ours either English or Indians that did ingage with and for the English, were lost when this exploit was done.

In the month of April, many of the Eastern Indians having been forely distressed, and fain to wander up and down for meat, so as that they lived for some time upon no other food then the skins of wild creatures, which they foaked in water till they became foft and eatable, notwithstanding the outrages and murthers (for they have shed the blood of about forty seven persons) by them committed, they did in confidence of favour from the English come and submit themselves, alleadging that the injuries done by them were grounded upon a mistake. For when a party of English came in a Warlike posture upon some of their Webbs (as they call them) i. e. Women as they were gathering Corn, an Indian seeing it, ran to the other Indians and told them that the English had (though it were not at all so) killed all those Indian women, and therefore they took up arms to revenge that supposed injury. Also they plead for themselves, that a Fisher-man told one of them, that the English would destroy all the Indians, and when inquiry was made of another English man (thought to be more discreet than the former) he confirmed what the other had faid, and that some rude English did purposely over set a Canoo wherein was an Indian Lad; and that although a Squam dived to the bottom of the River and fetched him up alive. yet that the Lad never came to himself again. It is greatly to be lamented that the Heathen should have any ground for such allegations, or that they should be scandalized by men that call themselves Christians.

May 3. Was the day of Election for Governour and Magistrates in the Mattachusets Colony. This day the Lord by a wonderful hand of providence, wrought Salvation for Mrs. Rowlandson and returned her to Boston, after she had been eleven weeks in Captivity amongst the Heathen. This is a Token for good, being a great answer of Prayer. For by reason of her near relation to a Man of God. much Prayer had been particularly made before the Lord on her behalf. Nevertheless did the Lord manifest his holy displeasure, inasmuch as at Haveril and Bradford, a small company of Indians killed two men and carried a way a man and a woman, and five children alive.

May 6. Our Forces which are abroad met with a party of Indians, and killed about thirteen of them, and had probably destroyed many more of them, had not an English man unhappily sounded a Trumpet, whereby the enemy had notice to escape. The Praying Indians did good Service at that time, insomuch as many who had hard thoughts of them all, begin to blame themselves, and to have a good opinion of those Praying Indians who have been so universally decryed.

May 8. About feventeen Houses and Barns did the Indians fire and defiroy at Bridg-water. About this time they killed four men at Taunton, as they were at work in the field, by whose death about thirty Children were made Fatherless. But the Lord in the nick of time, sent Thunder and Rain, which caufed the Enemy to turn back.

May 9. A day of Humiliation by Fasting and Prayer, was attended in the Town-house at Boston, by the Magistrates, and Deputies of the General' Court, with Affistance of so many Teaching Elders as could be obtained. Although many fuch folemn occasions have at times been attended in former years, yet it hath been observed by some, that God did always signally own his Servants, upon their being before him in such a way and manner: And so it was now; for the very next day after this, a Letter came from Connecticut to Boston, informing, that God had let loofe the Mohamks upon our Enemies, and that they were fick of Fluxes, and Feavers, which proved mortal to multitudes of them. And whereas a special request left before the Lord this day, was, that he would (as a token for good) cause our poor Captives to be returned to us again, and particularly those that were taken from Haveril the last week, God gave a gracious and speedy Answer, bringing home those. very Captives in particular, and many other, yea at least fixteen of our poor. fighing Prisoners, who were appointed to death, did the Lord loose and return unto us, within eight weeks after this day, and divers of them within three. days after this solemn day of Prayer. There are who have dated the turn of Providence towards us in this Colony, and against the Enemy in a wonderful manner, from this day forward: yet some lesser and more inconsiderable. devastations happened soon after in Plimouth Colony. For,

May 11. A company of Indians affaulted the Town of Plimouth, burnt eleven Houses and five Barns therein: ten English men were going to seek after the Enemy, and having an Indian with them, who was true to the Enlish, he spied a party of Indians lying in Ambush, who in probability had otherwise cut off many of them, but the English having the opportunity of the first shot, struck down several Indians, one of which had on a great Peag Belt. But he and the other that fell were dragged away, and the Indians sled, when they saw themselves pursued, though but by a few. Nevertheless two days after this, they burnt seven Houses and two Barns more in Plin mouth, and the remaining Houses in Namasket.

May 18. This day that happened which is worthy to be remembred. For at North-hampton, Hadly, and the Towns thereabouts, two English Captives escaping from the Enemy, informed that a considerable body of Indians, had

feated themselves not far from Pacomptuck, and that they were very secure; so that should forces be set forth against them, many of the Enemy would (in probability) be cut off without any difficulty. Hereupon the spirits of men in those towns were raised with an earnest desire to see and try what might be done. They fent to their neighbors in Connecticut for a supply of men, but none coming, they raifed about an hundred and fourfcore out of their own Towns, who arrived at the Indian Wigwams betimes in the morning, finding them fecure indeed yea all afleep without having any Scouts abroad; so that our Soldiers came and put their Guns into their Wigwams before the Indians were aware of them, and made a great and notable flaughter amongst them. Some of the Soldiers affirm, that they numbred above one hundred that lay dead upon the ground, and besides those, others told about an hundred and thirty, who were driven into the River, and there perished, being carried down the Falls, The River Kishon spets them away, that antient River, the River Kishon. O my soul, thou hast trodden down strength. And all this while but one Englishman killed, and two wounded. But God saw that if things ended thus, another and not Christ would have had the Glory of this victory, and therefore in his wife providence he fo disposed, as that there was at last somewhat a tragical issue of this Expedition. For an English Captive Lad, who was found in the Wigwams, spake as if Philip were coming with a thousand Indians: which false report being famed (Fama bella stant) among the Soldiers, a pannick terror fellupon many of them, and they hasted homewards in a confused rout, Tloxλα μενά τη σολεμή. In the mean while a party of Indians from an Island (whose coming on shore might easily have been prevented, and the Soldiers before they fet out from Hadly were earnestly admonished to take care about that matter) affaulted our men; yea, to the great dishonour of the English. a few Indians pursued our Soldiers four or five miles, who were in number near twice as many as the Enemy. In this Disorder, he that was at this time the chief Captain, whose name was Turner, lost his life, he was purfued through a River, received his fatal stroke as he passed through that which is called the Green River, and as he came out of the Water he fell into the hands of the Uncircumcifed, who stripped him (as some who say they faw it affirm) and rode away upon his horse, and between thirty and forty more were lost in this retreat.

Within a few days after this, Captain Towner's dead Corps was found a small distance from the River, it appeared that he had been shot through the thigh and back, of which it's judged he died speedily without any great torture from the Enemy. However it were, it is evident that the English obtained a victory at this time, yet if it be as some Indians have since related, the Victory was not fo great as was at first apprehended: For fundry of them who were at feveral times taken after this flaughter affirm that many of the Indians that were driven down the Falls, got fafe on shore again, and that they lost not above threescore men in the fight: also that they killed thirty and eight English men, which indeed is just the number missing. is not much heed to be given to Indian Testimony, yet when circumstances and artificial arguments confirm what they fay, it becometh an impartial Hiltorian to take notice thereof, nor is it to be doubted but the lofs of the Enemy was greater than those Captives taken by our Forces abroad did acknowledge. Some other Indians faid, that they lost feveral hundreds at this time, amongst whom there was one Sachem. I am informed that divers Indians who were in that battel, but fince come in to the English at Normich, fay that there were three hundred killed at that time, which is also confirmed by an Indian called Pomham, who faith that of that three hundred there were an hundred and feventy fighting men. Whatever the victory or fuccess of that engagement might be, it was the Lords doing, and let him alone have all the Glory.

Victory

May 23. Some of our Troopers fell upon a party of Indians (about fifty in number) not far from Rehoboth, and flew ten or twelve of them, with the loss of only one English man. The Indians betook themselves to a River, and had not some Foot-Soldiers on the other side of the River, too suddenly discovered themselves, probably there had been a greater slaughter of the Enemy, who hasted out of the River again, and sled into a Swamp where there was no pursuing of them.

May 30. The Enemy appeared at Hatfield, fired about twelve houses and barns without the Fortification, killed many of their Cattel, drave away almost all their Sheep, spread themselves in the meadow between Hatfield and Hadley. Whereupon twenty five active and resolute men went from Hadly to relieve their distressed Brethren. The Indians shot at them ere they could get out of the Boat, and wounded one of them. Ours nevertheless charged on the Enemy, that down five or fix at the first volley near the River. Then they made haft toward the town fighting with a great number of the Enemy, many falling before them. And though encompast with a numerous fwarm of Indians, who lay in Ambush behind almost every tree, and place of advantage, yet the English lost not one man, till within about. an hundred rod of the Town, when five of ours were flain; among whom was a precious young man, whose name was Smith, that place having lost many in losing that one man. It speaketh sadly to the rising Generation when fuch are taken away. After this the Enemy fled, having lost five and twenty in this fight.

In these two last months of May and April, besides the Sword of War, in respect of the Heathen, the Sword of the Lord hath been drawn against this Land, in respect of Epidemical Diseases, which sin hath brought upon us; Sore and (doubtles) Malignant Colds prevailing every where. I cannot hear of one Family in New England that hath wholly escaped the Distemper, but there have been many Families wherein every one in the House was sick and ill disposed. So as that there have been many fick and weak, and some are fallen asseep, yea some eminent and useful Instruments hath the Lord removed, and made breaches thereby upon divers of the Colonies of New England.

Connecticut is deprived of their worthy and publick-spirited Governour Winthrop. This Colony of Mattachusets hath been bereaved of two, (viz. Major Willard and Mr. Ruffel) who for many years had approved themselves faithful in the Magistracy. And the death of a few such is as much as if thousands had fallen; yet many other righteous and useful ones are gone, leaving us behind in the florm. And amongst the common people, not a few have been carried to their Graves in these two last Months. We have heard of no less than eight in one small Plantation buried in one week, wherein also twenty persons died this Spring. And in another little Town nineteen persons have died within a few weeks. We in Boston have seen (a fad and folemn spectacle!) Cossins meeting one another, and three or four put into their Graves in one day. In the month of May about fifty persons are deceased in this Town. By which things, God from Heaven speaks to us and would give us to understand, that if the Sword will not reform us, he hath other Judgments in store, whereby he can suddenly and easily bring us down. The Lord help us to apply our hearts unto Wisdom, and make us thankful, in that he hath been intreated graciously and wonderfully to restore health unto us again.

In the latter end of May and beginning of June, the Indians have been less active in the pursuit of their mischievous designs against the English. One reason whereof hath been, in that it was now their planting and fishing times for at this time of the year, they supply themselves with fish out of the Ponds and Rivers wherewith this good Land doth abound, and dry it against the Sun, so as that they can lay up in store, for to serve them the year about. But it would have been no wisdom for the English to suffer them so to do. Wherefore about four or sive hundred Soldiers were sent out of this Colony, and as many (English and Indians together) of Connecticut, to seek out and distrest the Enemy.

June 7. Our Forces now abroad came upon a party of Indians, not far from Lancaster, and killed seven of them, and took nine and twenty of them

Captive

Captive; some of which not long since had English Captives; under them. Thus did they that had led into Captivity, go into Captivity; and they that killed with the Sword were themselves killed with the Sword.

Also Connecticut Forces, whilst upon their march, killed and took above fifty Indians: and not long after that, a small party of Connecticut Souldiers with the assistance of a few of those Indians who have been friends to the English, flew and took forty and four of the Enemy in the Narraganset Country; all these exploits being performed without the loss of any of ours.

June 12. Tre Enemy affaulted Hadly, in the morning, Sun an hour high three Souldiers going out of the Town without their Arms; were diffwaded therefrom by a Serjeant, who stood at the Gate, but they alleadging that they intended not to go far, were suffered to pass, within a while the Serjeant apprehended, that he heard some men running; and looking over the Fortification, he saw twenty Indians pursuing those three men who were so terrified, that they could not cry out; two of them were at last killed, and the other fo mortally wounded as that he lived not above two or three days; wherefore the Serjeant gave the Alarm. God in great mercy to those Western Plantations had so ordered by his providence, as that Connections Army was come thither before this onset from the enemy. Belides English, there were near upon two hundred Indians in Hadley, who came to fight with and for the English, against the common enemy, who was quickly driven off at the South end of the Town, whilst our men were pursuing of them here, on a sudden a great Swarm of Indians issued out of the Bushes, and made their main affault at the North end of the Town, they fired a Barn which was without the Fortifications, and went into an house, where the inhabitants discharged a great Gun upon them, whereupon about fifty Indians were seen running out of the house in great haste, being terribly frighted with the Report and slaughter made amongst them by the great Gun. Ours followed the enemy (whom they judged to be about five hundred, and by Indian report fince, it feems they were feven hundred) neer upon two miles, and would fain have pursued them further, but they had no Order so to do. Some in those parts think, that as great an opportunity and advantage as hath been fince the war began, was loft at this time; the Lord having brought the enemy to them, and there being English and Indians enough to pursue them: But others supposing that then they should impede the design of coming upon them at the Falls, nothing was done until it was too late, only the Towns in those places were eminently faved, and but few of ours that lost their lives in this Skirmish, nor is it as yet known how many the enemy lost in this fight. The English could find but three dead Indians: yet some of them who have been taken Captive, confess that they had thirty men kill'd this day. And fince we have been informed by Indians, of that which is much to be observed, viz. that while the Indian men were thus fighting against Hadley, the hand of the Lord so disposed, as that the Mohamks came upon their Head-Quarters, and smote their Women and Children with a great Slaughter, and then returned with much plunder. If indeed it was so (and the Indians are under no temptation to report a falshood of this nature) it is a very memorable passage.

June 15. This day was seen at Plimouth the persect form of an Indian Bom appearing in the air; which the Inhabitants of that place (at least some of them) look upon, as a Prodigious Apparition. The like was taken notice of, a little before the Fort Fight in the Narraganset Countrey. Who knoweth but that it may be an Omen of ruine to the enemy, and that the Lord will break the bow and spear asunder, and make wars to cease unto the ends of the earth? Nor is this (may I here take occasion a little to digress, in order to the inserting of some things, hitherto not so much observed, as it may be they ought to be) the first Prodigy that hath been taken notice of in New-England. It is a common observation, verified by the experience of many Ages, that great and publick Calamities seldom come upon any place mithout Prodigious Warnings to forerun and signific what is to be expected. I am slow to believe Rumors of this nature, nevertheless some things I have had certain Information of.

It is certain, that before this War brake out; viz on Sept. 10. 1674. In Hadley, Northampton, and other Town thereabouts was heard the report of a great piece of Ordinance, with a shaking of the earth, and a considerable Eccho, when as there was no Ordinance really discharged at or near any of those Towns at that time. Yea no less than seven years before this war there were plain prodigious Notices of it. For,

Anno 1667. There were fears on the spirits of many of the English, concerning Philip and his Indians, and that year, Novemb. 30. about 9. or 10. bo. A. M. being a very clear, still, Sun-shine morning, there were divers Persons in Maldon, who heard in the air on the South east of them, a great Gun go off, and as soon as that was past, they heard the report of small Guns like musket shot, discharging very thick, as if it had been at a general Training; but that which did most of all amaze them, was the slying of the Bullets that came singing over their heads, and seemed to be very near them, after this they heard drums passing by them and going Westward. The same day, at Scituate, (and in other places) in Plimonth Colony, they heard as it were the running of troops of horses.

I would not have mentioned this relation, had I not received it from ferious, faithful and judicious hands, even of those who were ear-witnesses of these things.

And

And now that I am upon this Digression, let me add, that the monstrous births which have at fundry times hapned, are speaking solemn providences. Especially that which was at Woburn, Febru. 23. 1670. When the Wife of Foseph Wright was delivered of a Creature, the form thereof was as followeth. "The head, neck and arms in true form and shape of a child, but it " had no breast bone nor any back bone; the belly was of an extraordinary " bigness, both the sides and back being like a belly, the thighs were very " small without any thigh bones; It had no buttocks, the Membrum Virile "was a meer bone; it had no passage for nature in any part below; the seet "turned directly outward, the heels turned up, and like a bone, It being o-" pened, there were found two great lumps of flesh on the fides of the " feeming belly; the bowels did lie on the upper part of the breast by the "Vitals. This was testified before the Deputy Governour Mr. Willoughby on the 2d. of March following, by Mrs. Johnson Midwife, Mary Kendal, Ruth Bloghead, Lydia Kendal. Seen also by Capt. Edward Johnson. Lieut. John Carter, Henry Brook, James Thomson, Isaac Cole.

There are judicious persons, who upon the consideration of some relative circumstances, in that monstrous birth, have concluded that God did thereby bear witness against the Diforders of some in that place. As in the days of our Fathers, it was apprehended that God did tellisie from heaven against the monstrous Familistical Opinions that were then stirring, by that diretul Monster which was brought forth by the wife of William Dyer, Octo. 17. 1637. a description whereof may be seen in Mr. Welds his History of the Rise and Ruine of Antinomianism. p. 43, 44. and in Mr. Clarks Examples

vol. 1. p. 249.

Certainly God would have such providences to be observed and recorded; He doth not fend such things for nothing, or that no notice should be taken of them. And therefore was I willing to give a true account thereof, hoping that thereby mistakes and false Reports may be prevented.

To go on then with our History.

June. 16. Our Forces marched towards the Falls, ours on the East and Connecticut on the West side of the River. when they were about three miles out of the Towns, a vehement form of rain, with thunder and lightening overtook them, yet continuing but a while, they passed on till they came to the Falls, but the enemy was then gone. The next day it rained again, and continued a cold Euroclydon, or, North-east storm all that day and night, so that our Souldiers received much damage in their arms, ammunition and provision; and the next day (being Lords day) returned to the Towns, weary and discouraged, the Lord having seemed to fight against them by the storm mentioned. Thus doth the Lord in Wildom and Faithfulneis mix his DitDispensation towards us.

June 19. A party of Indians set upon Smanzy and burnt down the remaining houses there, except five houses whereof four were Garisons.

June 20. Connecticut Forces returned home in order to a recruit, intending to meet with ours the next week at Quabaog.

June. 21. was kept as a day of solemn Humiliation in one of the Churches in Boston, so was the next day in all the Churches throughout the Colony of Plimouth, After which we have not received such sad tidings, as usually such dayes have been attended with, ever fince this War began (as the precedent History doth make to appear) but rather such Intellegince from divers parts of the Country as doth administer ground of hope, and of rejoycing, the Lord seeming to seturn with mercy to his people, and to bring the enemy into greater distresses then formerly.

June 28. About thirty of ours adventured to go up the River towards the Falls at Deer field, to see what Indians they could espy thereabouts, but coming they found none. They went to an Island where they found an hundred Wigmans, and some English plundered Goods, which they took, and burnt the Wigmans. Also they marched up to a Fort which the Indians had built there, and destroyed it. Digging here and there they found several Indian Barns, where was abundance of Fish, which they took and spoiled, as also thirty of their Canoos, so that it appears that the Heathen are diffressed and scattered, being no more able to continue together in fuch great Bodyes as formerly.

Fune 29. Was observed as a day of publick Thanksgiving to celebrate the praises of that God, who hath begun to answer Prayer. And although there is cause for Humiliation before the Lord, inasmuch as the Sword is still drawn against us, nevertheless we are under deep engagement to make his praise glorious; considering how wonderfully he hath restrained and checked the infolency of the Heathen. That Victory which God gave to our Army, December 19. and again May 18. is never to be forgotten: also in that divers Indian Sachims (especially their great Sachim Quanonchet) have fallen before the Lord, and before his Servants. And in that things have been no worse with us, fince the year of trouble hath been upon us, that no more Indians have been let loose upon us, but many of them have been our friends, that no more Plantations have been made defolate, which nothing. but the restraining gracious providence of God hath prevented, for the Enemy might cafily have defiroyed ten times as many Towns as they have done, had not he that fets bounds to the raging of the Sea, restrained them; yea, one whole Colony hath been in a manner untouched, faving that one small deferted Plantation therein was burnt by the Indians; also fundry Towns that have been-fiercely affaulted by the Enemy, having obtained help from God, to continue to this day, as brands plucked out of the fire, and as monuments of the sparing mercy of God, although they have been in the fire they are not consumed. And God hath returned many of our Captives, having given them to find compassion before them who led them Captive; and caused the Enemy to entreat them well, in the time of affliction, and in the time of evil, and by strange wayes at last delivered them. He hath also fent in a supply of Corn from beyond Sea, this Spring and before winter, without which we could not eafily have fent out fuch Armies (however small and not worthy of the name of Armies in other parts of the World; yet with us they are Armies) as have been pursuing the Enemy. Its wonderful to confider, how that the Lord hath visited his People in giving them Bread, when a Famine was expected. And this Summer, God hath caufed the shower to come down in its season, there have been showers of Bleffing when some beginnings of a Drought were upon the Land. And fore Difeases hath the Lord rebuked; whereas the small Pox and other Malignant and Contagious Distempers have been amongst us since this War began, God hath been entreated to have compassion on us, and to restore health unto his people. Moreover, we are still under the enjoyment of our Liberties. both Civil and Spiritual: for such causes as these, the day mentioned was observed (by order of the Council) as a day of publick Thanksgiving throughout this Colony: And behold when we began to fing and to praise the Lord whose mercy endureth for ever, he hath as it were set Ambushments against the Enemy, and they were smitten, yea they have since that been smiting and betraying one another.

There are two things here observable:

a day of publick Humiliation the last year, being the first Fast that was observed in this Colony on the account of the present War, God hath so ordered, as that the same day of the moneth was in the year after set apart to magnifie his Name on the account of mercies received, being the first publick day of Thanksgiving, which hath been attended throughout this Colony since the War began.

2. The Lord from Heaven smiled upon us at this time; for the day before this Thanks-giving, as also the day after, he gave us to hear of more of our Captives returned; particularly Mr. Rowlandsons Children are now brought in as answers of Prayer. It is not a small mercy, that the mother and children (only one child was killed when the other were taken) should all of them be saved alive, and carried through the Jaws of so many deaths, and at last brought home in peace, that so they and all that ever shall hear of it, might fee and know, that the Lord Jehovah, is a God that heareth prayer Also the night after this Thanksgiving, intelligence came to Boston, that a chief Narraganset Sachim is now suing to the English for peace, and that an Indian was come in to the English near Reboboth, who informed that Philip was not far off, and that he had but thirty men (besides Women and Children) with him; and promised to conduct the English to the place where Philip was lurking, and might probably be taken; Moreover, the Indian affirmed, that thole Indians who are known by the name of Mauquamogs (or Mohawks, i. e. Man-eaters had lately fallen upon Philip, and killed fifty of his men. And if the variance between Philip & the Mauquamogs came to pass, as is commonly reported & apprehended, there was a marvelous finger of God in it. For we hear that Philip being this winter entertained in the Mohamks Country, made it his design to breed a quarrel betwen the English and them; to effect which divers of our returned Captives do report that he resolved to kill some scattering Mohawks, and then to say that the English had done it: but one of those whom he thought to have killed, was onl wounded, and got away to his Country-men, giving them to understand, that not the English but Philip had killed the Men that were Murdered, so that in stead of bringing the Mohanks upon the English, he brought them upon himself. Thus hath he conceived mischief and brought forth falshood, he made a pit and digged it, and is fallen into the ditch which he hath made, his mischief shall return apon his own head, and his violent dealing shall come down upon his own pate. The Heathen are sunk downinto the pit that they made, in the net which they had hid, is their own foot taken; the Lord is known by the Judgment which he executeth, the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands. Higgaion. Selah.

June 30. This day Souldiers marched out of Rosson towards the place, where Philip was supposed to be. But when they came thither, they found that he was newly gone. We hear that he is returned to Mount-hope, and that a considerable body of Indians are gathered to that place, where the War began, and where (it may be) way must be made towards an end of these troubles. Yet who knoweth how cruelly a dying Beast may bite before his expiration? Also Plimouth Companies being abroad under the conduct of Major Rradsord, the Lord went forth with them, this day causing the enemy to fall before them. They were in danger of being cut off by a party of Indians, who lay in Ambush for that end, but some of the Cape-Indians, who have been faithful to the English, discovered the Stratagems of the Adversary, whereby their intended mischief was happily prevented. Divers of them were killed and taken, without the loss of so much as one of ours. And whereas, three Messengers from Squaw Sachem of Sakonet, were gone to the Governour of Plimouth, offering to submit themselves, and engaging Fidelity to the English for the suture, if they might but have a promise of life, and liberty; before the Messengers returned from their treaty, that Squam-Sachim with about ninety persons, hearing that Plimouth Forces were approaching to them, came and rendred themselves to Major Bradford; wholly submitting to mercy, so that this day were killed, taken, and brought in no less then an bundred and ten Indians. And the providence of God herein is the more observable, in that the very day before this, the Lords People in Plimouth did unanimously consent to renew their Covenant with God, and one another, and a day of Humiliation was appointed for that end, that so a work so sacred and awful might be attended with the more solemnity; also in the week before these signal smiles from Heaven upon that Colony, most of the Churches there, had renemed their Covenant, viz. on the day of Humiliation which was last attended throughout that jurisdiction. God then saith unto us, that if we will indeed hearken unto his voice, the haters of the Lord shall soon submit themselves.

July 1. Whereas the Council at Boston had lately emitted a Declaration, fignifying, that such Indians as did within fourteen dayes come in to the English, might hope for mercy, divers of them did this day return from among the Nupmicks. Amongst others, James an Indian, who could not only read, and write, but had learned the Art of Printing, notwithstanding his Apostasie, did venture himself upon the mercy and truth of the English. Declaration which he had seen and read, promising for the suture to venture his life against the common Enemy. He and the other now come in, assirm that very many of the Indians are dead siene this War began, and that more have dyed by the hand of God, in respect of Diseases, Fluxes, and Feavers, which have been amongst them, than have been killed with the Sword.

July 2. This day Connecticut Forces being in the Narraganset Country met with a party of Indians, pursued them into a Swamp, killed and took an bundred and fourscore of them (amongst whom was the old Squam Sachem of Narraganset) without the loss of one English-man. Only an Indian or two that fought for the English, was killed in this engagement. The English would gladly have gone further, and have joined with Boston and Plimouth Companies to pursue Philip at Mount-hope, but the Connecticut Indians would by no means be perswaded thereunto, until such time as they had returned home with the booty they had taken. And as they were on their march homeward, they took and slaughtered threescore more Indians. In the mean while the other Colonies are sending out souldiers towards Mount-hope, where Philip with a multitude of Indians lately flocked thither is reported to be, designing speedily to fall upon the neighbouring Towns.

July.

Faly. 6. Five or fix Indian Sachems did make peace with the English in the Eastern parts of this Colony. They have brought in with them three hundred men besides women and children. One of the Sachims did carneslly defire, that the English would promise that no more liquors should be sold or given to the Indians, that so they might not be in a Capacity of making themfelves drunk, having found by woful experience, that that hath been a ruining evil to many of them. This week also about two hundred Indians more came and submitted themselves to mercy, in Plimouth Colony, being partly necessitated thereeuto by the distresses which God in his holy providence hath brought them into, and partly encouraged by a promise from the Government there. that all such Indians as would come in and lay down their arms should have life and liberty granted to them, excepting only fuch as had been active in any of the murthers which have been committed. When these Indians were in the hands of the English, a certain Squaw amongst them perceiving that it would be pleasing to the English, if the murderers swere discovered, the presently told of one who had had a bloudy hand in the murthers which were done in Mr. Clarks house March the twelfth. the Indian immediately confessed the Fact, only said that there was another who had as great a hand therein as he, which other Indian being examined confessed the thing also, and he revealed a third Indian Murderer, who upon Examination owned the thing, whereupon they were all three forthwith executed, thus did God bring upon them the innocent blood which they had shed. Also the Indians who had surrendred themselves, informed that a bloody Indian called Tuck poo (who the last summer murdered a man of Boston at Namasket) with about twenty Indians more, was at a place within 16 miles of Plimouth, and manifested willingness to go and fetch him in. whereupon eight English with fourteen Indians, marched out in the night. and seized upon them all, none of ours receiving any hurt at this time. stice was speedily executed upon the Indian, who had been a murderer; the other having their lives granted them.

July 7. A small party of our Indians having some English with them, took and killed seven of the Enemy in the Woods beyond Dedham, whereof one was a petty Sachem. The two Indians which were then taken Prisoners, say that many of their men who were sent to Albany for a supply of Powder, were set upon in the way by the Mohamks, and killed,. It is is certain that about this time, some of those Indians who are in Hostility against the English (amongst whom the Sachim of Springsield Indians, was one) came to Albany to buy Powder, and that they might effect their design, they lyed and said, that now they had made peace with the English, and desired Powder only to go an hunting in the Woods: we hear, that the other Indians were very desirous to have slain them, but the Governour of New-York secured them, and gave notice to the Councill at Hartford: since that we have Intelligence that many of our enemies, yea and such as have been notorious Murderers, are fled for refuge to those about Albany.

July 11. A Party of Indians ('tis conjectured that there were about two hundred of them) affaulted Taunton. And in probability, that Town had at this time been brought under the fame defolation other places have experienced, had not the Lord in his gracious providence so ordered, that a Captive Negro, the week before escaped from Philip, and informed of his purpose speedily to destroy Taunton; whereupon Souldiers were forthwith sent thither, so that the enemy was in a little time repulsed, and sled, after they had fired two Houses: but not one English Life was lost in this Engagement. What loss the enemy sustained is as yet unknown to us. There was a speciall providence in that Negroes escape, for he having lived many years near to the Indians, understood their Language, and having heard them tell one another what their designs were, he acquainted the English therewith, and how Philip had ordered his men to lye in Ambuscadoes in such and such places, to cut off the English, who by means of this intelligence escaped that danger, which otherwise had attended them.

About this time we hear that there are three hundred Mohangs, who have armed themselves, as being desirous to be revenged upon those Indians who have done so much harm to New-England (if they receive no discouragement as to their designed Expedition) And that they purpose to colour their heads and make them yellow, that so they may not upon their approach to any of our Plantations, be mistaken for other Indians.

There is another thing which though it doe not concern the Warr, yet happing this week, it may not be amis here to take notice of it. At Saconeffet in Plymouth Colony, a female Child was born with two heads, perfectly distinct each form other, so that it had sour eyes, and sour ears, and two mouthes and tongues, &c.

July 22. Some of our Companies returned from Mount-hope to Boston, And albeit they have not attained that which was the main end proposed in their going forth, so the Apprehension of Philip, nevertheless God was in a gratious measure present with them; for they killed and took about an hundred and fifty Indians in this expedition, with the loss of but one English man. One night they lodged very near unto Philip, but he kept himself private and still in a Swamp, ours not imagining that he had been so neer, as afterwards (by Indian Captives) they perceived he was: after this an Indian that was taken Prisoner engaged that if they would spare his life, he would would forthwith bring them to Philip, but our Souldiers were not able to go the nearest way towards him, yet in about two hours space, they came whither the Indian conducted them, and found that a great many Indians were newly fled, having for hast left their Kettler boyling over their fires, and their Belts, and Baskets of Wampampeag, yea and their dead unburied. At that time did the English take and kill about seventy persons: since an Indian that came into Rhode-Island, informeth, that Philip is gone to a Swamp near Dartmouth: and that when our Forces were pursuing of him, he with a few hid himself in Squanakunk Swamp, till our Souldiers were past, and then with one Indian in a Canoo crost the river to Pocasset. It seems the body of the Indians belonging to him, went over on two Rafts, in which passage they lost feverall Guns, and wet much of their Ammunition. The reason why Philip fled to this place, was because if he went Northward, the Mohamks would be upon him, if Southward he was in danger of the Monbegins, and he durst not hide himself any longer about Metapoisit, because the Woods thereabouts were filled with Souldiers. This week also, Captain Church of Plimouth, wirh a fmall party confifting of about eighteen English, and two and twenty Indians, had four feverall engagements with the Enemy, and killed and took Captive seventy nine Indians, without the loss of so much as one of ours; it having been his manner, when he takethany Indians by a promise of favour to them, in case they acquit themselves well, to set them an hunting after more of these Wolves, whereby the worst of them, sometimes do fingular good fervice in finding out the rest of their bloody fellows. In one of these Skirmishes, Tiashq, Philips chief Captain, ran away leaving his Gun behind him, and his Squaw, who was taken. They came within two miles of the place where Philip hideth himself, and discerned at a distance about fifty Indians with Guns, thought to be Philips Hunters for provision. and were defirous to have engaged with them, but being loaden with Captives and plunder, they could not then attend it. Also a Sachim of Pocasset hath submitted himself with fourty Indians more, to the Governour of Plymonth. So that there is of late such a strange turn of providence (especially in Plimonth Colony, fince the Churches in that Colony (being thereunto provoked by the godly advice and Recommendation of the civil Authority in that Jurisdiction) did solemnly renew their covenant with God and one another). as the like hath rarely been heard of in any age. Whereas formerly almost every week did conclude with fad tidings now the Lord fends us good news weekly. Without doubt, there are in the World who have been praying for us, and God hath heard them. If our poor prayers may be a means to obtain mercy for them also, who have prayed for us, how shall we rejoyce, when we meet together before Jesus Christ at the last and great day: Fuly 25. Thirty and fix English-men who went out of Medsield and Dedbam, having nine of the Praying Indians with them, purfued and overtook a party of the Enemy, killed and took alive fifty of them, without the loss of any of ours. The nine Indians stored themselves with plunder when this exploit was done: For belides Kettles, there was about half a bullel of Wampampeag, which the Enemy loft, and twelve pound of Powder, which the Captives say they had received from Albany but two days before. At this time another of the Narraganset Sachims was killed, whose name was Pomban, and his Son was taken alive, and brought Prisoner to Boston. This Pombam after he was wounded fo as that he could not fland upon his legs, and was thought to have been dead, made a shift (as the Souldiers were purfuing others) to crawl a little out of the way, but was found again; and when an English-man drew near to him, though he could not stand, he did (like a dying Beast) in rage and revenge, get hold on that Souldiers head, and had like to have killed him, had not another came in to his help, and rescued him out of the enraged dying hands of that bloody Barbarian, who had been a great promoter of the Narraganset War.

July 27. One of the Nipmuck Sachims (called Sagamore John) came to Boston, and submitted himself to the mercy of the English, bringing in about an hundred and fourscore Indians with him. And that so he might ingratiate himself with the English, he apprehended Matoonas and his Son, and brought them with him to Boston, which Matoonin was the beginner of the War in this Colony of Missachusets; for it was he that committed the murders which were done at Mendam, July 14. 1675. Being thus taken and examined before the Council, he had little to plead for himself, and therefore was condemned to immediate death. Sagamore John was desirous that he and his men might be the Executioners; wherefore Matoonas was carried out into the Common at Boston, and there being tied to a Tree, the Sachim who had now submitted himself, with several of his men, shot him to death. Thus did the Lord (a year after) retaliate upon him the innocent blood which he had shed, as he had done so God hath requited him: And inasmuch as Matoonas, who began the War and Mischiefs which have followed thereon in this Colony of Massachusets is taken, and Justice glorified upon him, it feems to be a good Omen, that ere long Philip who began the War in the other Colony, shall likewise be delivered up unto Justice. In due time his foot shall slide, and the things which shall come upon him seem to make haste.

July 31. A finall party of Souldiers, whose hearts God had touched, marched out of Bridgwater, in order to pursuing the Enemy. And (about 3 b. p. m.) not far from Tetignot River, they unexpectedly to themselves, and undiscerned by the Enemy, came upon a company of Indians, amongst whom Philip himself was, though his being there was not known to our men, until the engagement was over. They that down ten Indians, they were wellarmed, and at first snapped their Guns at the English, but not one of them took fire; wherefore the terrour of God fell upon the Indians, that fifteen of them threw down their Guns, and submitted themselves to the English, the rest sted; Philip himself escaped very narrowly with his life. He threw away his stock of Powder into the Bushes, that he might hasten his escape, albeit some of his men the next day found it again. Our Souldiers took above twenty pound of Bullets and Lead, and seven Guns, five of which were loaden and primed: yea they took the chief of Philips Treasure, not being able to carry away all their Plunder that day, for they found much English goods which Philip had stosen. Philip made his escape with three men, one of which was killed. And although he himself got clear, yet his Uncle, whose name was Uncompoen, being one of his chief Counsellors, was flain, and Philips own Sifter was taken Prisoner: not so much as one English-man received any hurt at this time. Thus did God own Bridgemater, after the People therein had fubscribed with their hands, and solemnly renewed their holy Covenant with God, and one another, that they would reform those evils which were amongst them, and endeavour for the future to walk more according to the will of God in Jesus Christ.

August 1. Captain Church with thirty English-men, and twenty Indians following Philip and those with him, by their track took twenty and three Indians. The next morning they came upon Philips head Quarters, killed and took about and hundred and thirty Indians, with the loss of but one English-man. In probability many of the English Souldiers had been cut off at this time, but that an Indian called Matthias, who fought for the English, when they were come very near the Enemy, called to them in their own Language with much vehemency, telling them they were all dead men if they did but fire a Gun, which did so amuse and amaze the Indians, that they lost a great advantage against the English. Philip hardly escaped with his life this day also. He sted and left his Peag behind him, also his Squam and his Son were taken Captives, and are now Prisoners in Plymouth. Thus hath God brought that grand Enemy into great misery before he quite defiroy him. It must needs be bitter as death to him, to lose his Wise and only Son (for the Indians are marvelous fond and affectionate towards their Children) besides other Relations, and almost all his Subjects and Country too.

August. 3. This day the Lord smiled upon this Land by signal favour, in another respect which concerns not the present War. For whereas in the Month of July, there had been a sore Drought, which did greatly threaten the Indian Harvest, God opened the bottles of Heaven, and caused it to rain all this night, and the day after, so as that the Indian corn is recovered to admiration, the English Harvest being already gathered in, and more plentifull than in some former years, insomuch that this which was expected to be a year of Famine, is turned to be a year of plenty as to provision.

Whilst I am writing this, good information is brought to me, that in some parts of Connecticut Colony, the Drought was forer than in this Colony, inafmuch as the Trees began to languish, and the Indians to despair of an Harvest; wherefore Uncas (for although he be a friend to the English, yet he and all his men continue Pagans still) fet his Pomams on work to see if they. could by powawing (i.e. conjuring) procure rain, but all in vain; He therefore sent Westward to a noted Poman, to try his skill, but neither could that Wizzard by all his hideous and diabolical howlings obtain showers. Whereupon he (i. e. Uncas) applyed himself to Mr. Fitch (the Faithful and able Teacher of the Church in Normich) desiring that he would pray to God for rain. Mr. Fitch replyed to him, that if he should do so, and God should hear him, as long as their Powaws were at work, they would ascribe the rain to them, and think that the Devil whom the Indians worship, and not God, had fent that rain, and therefore he would not fet himself to pray for it, until they had done with their vanities and witcheries. Uncas and his Son Oweneco declared that they had left off Powawing, despairing to obtain what they defired. Mr. Fitch therefore called his Church together, and they fet themselves by Fasting and Prayer, to ask of the Lord rain in the time of the latter rain, and behold! that very night, and the next day, He that faith to the finall rain, and to the great rain of his Strength, be thou upon the earth, gave most Plentiful Showers, in as much as the Heathen were affected therewith, acknowledging that the God whom we ferve is a great God, and there is none like unto him.

August 6. An Indian that deferted his fellows, informed the Inhabitants of Taunton that a party of Indians who might be easily surprised, were not very far off, and promised to conduct any that had a mind to apprehend those Indians in the right way towards them, whereupon about twenty Souldiers marched out of Taunton, and they took all those Indians, being in number thirty and fix, only the Squaw-Sachem of Pocasset, who was next unto Philip in respect of the mischief that hath been done, and the blood that hath been shed in this Warr, escaped alone; but not long after some of Taunton sinding an Indian Squaw in Metapoiset newly dead, cut off her head, and it hapned to be Weetamoo, i. e. Squaw-Sachem her head. When it was set upon a pole in Taunton, the Indians who were prisoners there, knew it presently, and made a most horrid and diabolical Lamentation, crying out it was their Queens head. Now here it is to be observed, that God himself by his own hand, brought this enemy to destruction. For in that place, where the last year, she furnished Philip with Canooes for his men, she her self could not meet with a Canoo, but venturing over the River upon a Rast, that brake under her, so that she was drowned, just before the English sound her. Surely Philips turn will be next.

August. 10. Whereas Potock a chief Counsellor to the old Squaw-Sachem of Narraganset, was by some of Road-Island brought into Boston, and sound guilty of promoting the War against the English, he was this day shot to death in the Common at Boston. As he was going to his execution, some told him that now he must dy, he had as good speak the truth, and say how many Indians were killed at the Fort-Fight last winter. He replyed, that the English did that day kill above seven hundred sighting men, and that three hundred who were wounded, dyed quickly after, and that as to old men, women and Children, they had lost no body could tell how many; and that there were above three thousand Indians in the Fort, when our Forces assaulted them, and made that notable slaughter amongst them.

August. 12. This is the memorable day wherein Philip, the perfidious and bloudy Author of the War and wofull miseries that have thence ensued. was taken and flain. And God brought it to pass, chiefly by Indians themselves. For one of Philips men (being disgusted at him, for killing an Indian who had propounded an expedient for peace with the English) ran away from him, and coming to Road-Island, informed that Philip was now returned again to Mount-Hope, and undertook to bring them to the Swamp where he hid himself. Divine Providence so disposed, as that Capt. Church of Plymouth was then in Road-Island, in order to recruiting his Souldiers. who had been wearied with a tedious march that week, But immediately upon this Intelligence, he fet forth again, with a small company of English and Indians. It teemeth that night Philip (like the man in the Host of Midean) dreamed that he was fallen into the hands of the English, and just as he was faying to those that were with him, that they must fly for their lives that day, left the Indian that was gone from him should discover where he was; Our Souldiers came upon him, and furrounded the Swamp (where he with with feven of his men abfconded) Thereupon he betook himfelf to flights but ashe was coming out of the Swamp, an English-man and an Indian endeavoured to fire at him, the English-man missed of his aime, but the Indian that him through the heart, so as that he fell down dead. The Indian who thus killed Philip, did formerly, belong to Squaw-Sachim of Pocaffet, being known by the name of Alderman. In the beginning of the war, he came to the Governour of Plymouth, manifesting his defire to be at peace with the English, and immediately withdrew to an Island, not having ingaged against the English nor for them, before this time. Thus when Philip had made an end to deal treacherously, his own Subjects dealt treacherously with him. This Wo was brought upon him that spoyled when he was not spoyled. And in that very place where he first contrived and began his mischief, was he taken and destroyed, and there was he (like as Agag was hewed in pieces before the Lord) cut into four quarters, and is now hanged up as a monument of revenging Justice, his head being cut off and carried away to Plymouth, his Hands were brought to Boston. So let all thine Enemies perish O Lord! When Philip was thus flain, five of his men were killed with him, one of which was his chief Captains son, being (as the Indians testifie) that very Indian, who that the first gun at the English, when the War began. So that we may hope that the War in those parts will dye with Philip.

A little before this, the Authority in that Colony had appointed the seventeenth of this instant to be observed as a day of publick Thanksgiving throughout that Jurisdiction, on the account of wonderful success against the Enemy, which the Lord hath bleffed them with, ever fince they renewed their Covenant with him; and that so they might have hearts raised and enlarged in ascribing praises to God, he delivered Philip into their hands a few dayes before their intended Thanksgiving. Thus did God break the head of that Leviathan, and gave it to be meet to the people inhabiting the wilderness, and brought it to the Town of Plimouth the very day of their solemn Festival: yet this also is to be added and considered, that the Lord (so great is the divine faithfulness) to prevent us from being lifted up with our. fuccesses, and that we might not become secure, so ordered as that not an English-man but an Indian (though under Churches influence) must have the honour of killing Philip. And the day before this, was attended with a doleful Tragedy in the Eastern parts of this Country, viz. at Falmouth in . Cafeo-bay, where some of those treacherous and bloody Indians who had lately submitted themselves, and promised Fidelity to the English, killed and took Captive above thirty Souls. The chief Author of this mischief, was an . Indian called Simon; who was once in the hands of the English, and then known.

known to have been active in former Murders, having bragged and boasted of the mischief and murders done by him: we may fear, that God, who so awfully threatned Abab, when he had let go out of his hand a Blasphemous Murderous Heathen, whom the Lord had devoted to destruction, was not well pleased with the English for concluding this, and other bloody Murderers, in the late Eastern peace. What the issue of this new slame thus breaking forth, shall be, or how far it shall proceed, is with him whose wisdom is infinite, and who doth all things well.

Thus have we a brief, plain, and true Story of the War with the Indians in New-England, how it began, and how it hath made its progress; and what present hopes there are of a comfortable closure and conclusion of this trouble; which hath been continued for a whole year and more. Designing only a Breviary of the History of this war; I have not enlarged upon the circumstances of things, but shall leave that to others, who have advantages and leasure to go on with such an undertaking.

Magna dabit, qui magna potest, mihi parva potenti, Parvaque poscenti, parva dedisse sat est.

There is one thing admirable to confider; I mean the providence of God in keeping one of these three United Colonies, in a manner untouched all this while: For Connecticut Colony hath not been affaulted by this Enemy, only a few houses in one deserted Plantation were burnt; and it is possible that one Indian alone might do that. Whether God intends another tryal for them or for what reason he hath hither to spared them, no one may as yet determine. Christ said unto Peter, What I do thou knowest not now, but thou thalt know hereafter: even so, although we do not at present fully perceive the meaning of this providence, yet hereafter it will be manifest. And albeit the same sins and provocations have been found with them that are to be charged upon others, nevertheless it must needs be acknowledged (for why should not that which is praise-worthy in Brethren be owned, that so God may have the glory of his grace towards and in his Servants?) they have in the management of this affair, acquitted themselves like men, and like Christians. It was prudently done of them, not to make the Indians who lived amongst them their Enemies, and the Lord hath made them to be as a Wall to them, and also made use of them to do great service against the common Enemies of the English. The Churches there have also given proof of their charity and Christianity, by a liberal Contribution towards the the necessity of the Saints impoverished by this War in the other two Colonies, having collected and transported above a thousand Bushels of Corn, for the relief and comfort of those that have lost all through the Calamity of War; God will remember and reward that pleasant fruit. Nor have some of the Churches in this Colony (especially in Boston, which the Grace of Christ hath alwayes made exemplary in works of that nature) been unwilling to consider their poor Brethren according to their Ability.

To Conclude this History, it is evident by the things which have been expressed, that our deliverance is not as yet perfected; for the Nipmuck Indians are not yet wholly fubdued: Moreover, it will be a difficult thing either to subdue, or to come at the River Indians, who have many of them withdrawn themselves, and are gone far westward, and whilst they and others that have been in hoffility against us, remain unconquered, we cannot enjoy fuch perfect peace as in the years which are past. And there seems to be a dark Cloud rifing from the East, in respect of Indians in those parts, yea a Cloud which streameth forth blood. But that which is the saddest thought of all, is, that of late some unhappy scandals have been, which are enough to flop the current of mercy, which hath been flowing in upon us, and to provoke the Lord to let loofe more Enemies upon us, so as that the second error thall be worse then the first. Only God doth deliver for his own Names fake: the Lord will not for fake his people for his great Names fake; because it hath pleased the Lord to make us his people. And we have reafon to conclude that Salvation is begun, and in a gracious measure carried on towards us. For fince last March there are two or 3000. Indians who have been either killed or taken or submitted themselves to the English. And those Indians which have been taken Captive; & others also, inform that the Narragansets are in a manner mined, there being (as they say) not above an hundred men left of them, who the last year were the greatest body of Indians in New-England, and the most formidable Enemy which hath appeared against us. But God hath confumed them by the Sword, and by Famine, and by Sicknessit being no unusual thing for those that traverse the woods to find dead Indians up and down, whom either Famine, or fickness, hath caused to dy and there hath been none to bury them. And Philip who was the Sheba, that began and headed the Rebellion, his head is thrown over the wall, therefore have we good reason to hope that this Day of Trouble, is near to an end, if our fins doe not undoe all that hath been wrought for us. And indeed there is one sad consideration, which may cause humble tremblings to think of it, namely in that the Reformation which God expects from us it not fo hearty and so perfect as ought to be. Divines observe, that whereas upon Samuels exhortations, the people did make but imperfect work of it, as to the Reformation of provoking evils, therefore God did only begin their deliverance by Samuel, but lett scattered Philitines unsubdued, who afterwards made head and proved a fore scourge to the Children of Israel, untill Davids time, in whose Reign there was a full Reformation, and then did the Lord give unto his people full deliverance. Nevertheless a sad Cantitrophe will attend those that shall magnifie themselves against the people of the Lord of Hofts. It hath been observed by many, that never any (whether Indians or others) did set themselves to do hurt to New-England, but they have come to lamentable ends at last. New-England hath been a burthensome stone, all that have burthened themselves with it, have been cut in pieces. The experience of the present day, doth greatly confirm that observation, and give us ground to hope, that as for remaining enemies, they shall fare as others that have gone before them, have done. Yet this further must needs be acknowledged, that as to Victories obtained, we have no cause to glory in any thing that we have done, but rather to be ashamed and contounded for our own wayes. The Lord hath thus far been our Saviour for his Names fake, that it might not be profaned among the Heathen whither he hath brought us. And God hath let us fee that he could easily have destroyed us, by such a contemptible enemy as the Indians have been in our eyes; yea he hath convinced us that we our felves could not subdue them. They have advantages that we have not, knowing where to find us, but we know not where to find them, who nevertheless are alwayes at home, and have in a manner nothing but their lives and fouls (which they think not of) to lofe; every Swamp is a Castle to them, and they can live comfortably on that which would starve English-men. So that we have no cause to glory. for it is God which hath thus faved us, and not we our felves. If we confider the time when the enemy hath fallen, we must needs own that the Lord hath done it. For we expected (and could in reason expect no other) that when the Summer was come on, and the bushes and leaves of trees come forth, the enemy would do ten times more mischief then in the winter season; whenas fince that, the Lord hath appeared against them, that they have done but little hurt comparatively. Had there not been, Os & and un avins a divine hand beyond all expectation manifested, we had been in a state most miserable this day. Also if we keep in mind the means and way whereby our deliverance hath thus been accomplished, we must needs own the Lord in all. For it hath not been brought to pass by our numbers, or skill. or valour, we have not got the Land in possession by our own Sword, neither did eur omn arm fave us, But God hath wasted the Heathen, by sending the destroying Angel amongst them, since this War began, and (which should alwayes be an humbling consideration unto us) much hath been done towards the subduing of the enemy, by the Indians who have sought for us, sometimes more then by the English. And no doubt but that a great reason why many of them have of late been desirous to submit themselves to the English, hath been, because they were asraid of the Mohaugs who have a long time been a Terror to the other Indians. I have received it from one who was returned out of Captivity this Summer, that the Indians where he was, would not suffer any tires to be made in the night, for fear less the Mohaugs should thereby discern where they were, and cut them off.

Now, as the Lord, who doth redeem Ifrael out of all his troubles, hath graciously and gloriously begun our Salvation, so let him perfect it, in such a way, as that no honour at all may come unto us, but that great glory may be to his own blessed Name for ever. Let him bring health and cure unto this Jerusalem, and reveal the abundance of peace and truth: And it shall be unto him a Name of joy, a Praise and an honour before all the Nations of the earth, which shall hear all the good that he will doe unto us, and they shall fear and tremble for all the goodness, and for all the prosperity that he will procure. If we hearken to his voice in these his solemn Dispensations, it surely shall be so. Not unto us O Lord; not unto us, but unto thy Name give Glory, for thy mercy and for thy Truths sake. Amen!

POSTSCRIPT.

Ince I wrote the preceding Narrative, I hear that there are who make a scruple of using the word Army, when applyed to such inconsiderable Forces, as those which have been raised and sent forth by us in the late War. I pretend not to any skill or accuracy of speaking as to modern platforms of Military Discipline: But sure I am that of old, a few Coborts being under the command of a chief Captain, though in all there were not above four or five hundred Souldiers, this was called sealeum, an Army, Acts 23.27. Yea those three hundred Souldiers who were under Gideon as their General, are styled an Army, Judg. 8.6. The Hebrew word there used cometh from Ray which signifies turmatim congregare ad militandum, when Troops are affembled together, this did the Hebrews call an Hist or an Army. There are small Armies as well as great ones, 2 Chron. 24. 24. איר which is the word used in that place fignifies Forces: that term have I commonly chosen, though the other being of most frequent use, and aptly enough expressing what is meant by it, I have not wholly declined it. For amongst us

Quem penes Arbitrium est & jus & Norma loquendi.

And Reason saith, that those Forces may pass for Armies in one part of the world, that will not do so in another. But my design in this Postscript is not to Criticize or Apologize about the use of a Term. There is another matter of greater importance, so. That which doth concern the Grounds of this Warr, and the justness of it on our part: concerning which I shall here adde a sew words, It is known to every one, that the Warr began not amongst us in Matachusets Colony; nor do the Indians (so far as I am informed) pretend that we have done them wrong. And therefore the cause on our part is most clear, and unquestionable: For if we should have suffered our Confederates, and those that were ready to be slain, to be drawn to death and nor have endeavoured to deliver them, when they sent unto us for that end, the Lord would have been displeased; nor should we have acted like the Children of Abraham, Gen. 14. 14. Yea, all the world would justly have condemned us And as for our Brethren in that Colony, where these tumults first hapned,

It is evident that the Indians did most unrighteously begin a Quarrel, and take up the Sword against them.

I faid at the beginning, I would not enlarge upon that Argument, which concerns the Grounds of the War; neither will I, because that would make the History too voluminous, contrary to my defign. Nevertheless inasmuch as some are diffatisfied thereabouts, so as to receive impressions and prejudices in their minds, concerning our Brethren in Plymouth Colony (as it is natural for men in trouble to lay blame upon every body but themselves) suppoling that they have without just cause engaged themselves and all these united Colonies in an unhappy War. Yea and that the Indians were provoked to do what they did, when as (whatever may be faid of some private persons, of whose injurious dealings no complaint was made and proved) it feems very manifest to impartial Judges, that the Covernment in that Colony . is innocent as to any wrongs that have been done to the Heathen, by those where the War began. And therefore for their vindication, and for the satisfaction of those amongst our felves, (or else-where) who are cordially desirous to have things cleared, respecting the Grounds of the War, I shall here subjoyn a Letter, which I received from General Winflow (whose integrity and peculiar capacity, (as being Governour of Plymouth Colony) to give information in this affair is well known) together with a Narrative of the beginning of these Troubles, as it was presented to the Commissioners of the United Colonies. in September last, for the satisfaction of consederate Brethren.

Reverend Sir,

The many Testimonies you have given, not only of your good respects to my unworthy self personally, but also to this whole Colony, manifested in your endeavours to vindicate us from undeserved aspersions, that some ignorant or worse than uncharitable persons would lay upon us, respecting the grounds of these troubles, calls for a greater Retribution than a bare acknowledgment. But Sir, my present design is only to give you surther trouble, by enabling you to say something more particularly on our behalf; to that end I have sent you the enclosed Paper, which is an exact Narrative given in by Mr. Hinkly and my self, to the first Sessions of the Commissioners of the Confederate Colonies, September last; from which the Commssioners and the Council of your Colony, and afterwards your General Court, took sull satisfaction, as you see by their subsequent acts and actions. Yet much more we can truly say in our Vindication, (viz.) that we have endeavoured to carry it justly and faithfully towards them at all times, and friendly beyond their deserts. I think I can clearly say, that before these present troubles broke out, the Engish did not pesses one foot of Land in this Colony, but what was fairly obtained by honest purchase of the Indian Proprietors: Nay, because some of our people are of a covetous disposition, and the Indians are in their Streits easily prevailed with to part ' with their Lands, we first made a Law that none should purchase or receive of gift any Land of the Indians, without the knowledge and allowance of our Court, and penalty of a fine, five pound per Acre, for all that should be so bought or obtained. And left yet they should be streightned, we ordered that Mount-Hope, Pocasset, & severall other Necks of the best Land in the Colony, (because most suitable and convenient for them) should never be bought out of their hands, or else they would have fold them long fince. And our neighbours at Rehoboth and Swanzy; although they bought their Lands fairly of this Philip, and his Father and Brother, yet because of their vicinity, that ' they might not trespass upon the Indians, did at their own cost set up a very substantial fence quite cross that great Neck between the English and the Indians, and payed due damage if at any time any unruly borse or other beasts brake in and trespassed. And for diverse years last past (that all occasion of 'offence in that respect might be prevented) the English agreed with Philip s and his, for a certain fum yearly to maintain the faid Fence, and secure 'themselves. And if at any time they have brought complaints before us, they bave had justice impartial, and speedily, so that our own people have stequently complained, that we erred on the other hand, in shewing them overmuch favour, 'Much more I might mention, but I would not burden your patience, yet we must own that God is just and hath punished us far less than our iniquities bave deserved; yea just in using as a Rod, whose enlightning and con-· verfion we have not endeavoured as we might & should have done, but on "the contrary have taught them new fins that they knew not. The Lord ' Humble us and Reform us, that he may also save and deliver us, as in his own 'time I trust he will. Sir, I have nothing of Intelligence worthy your 'knowledge. The Colds are very general amongst us, and some very affli-'tive. The Lord rebuke the mortal Distemper that prevails so much in 'your Town, and fanctitie all his Visitations to us. Thus craving the benefit of your Prayers, in this day of Gods Visitation, Your obliged Friend to serve you,

A brief

A brief Narrative of the beginning and progress of the present Troubles between us and the Indians, taking rise in the Colony of New Plymouth June 1675. Given by the Commissioners of that Colony, for the satisfaction of their Confederate Brethren, and others.

TOt to look back further then the Troubles that were between the Colony of New Plymouth, and Philip, Sachem of Mount-Hope, in the 'Year 1671. It may be remembred, that the settlement and issue of that controversic was obtained and made (principally) by the mediation and interposed advice, and counsel of the other two confederate Colonies, who c upon a careful enquiry and search into the grounds of that trouble, found that the faid Sachems Pretences of wrongs and injuries from that Colony were groundless and false, and that he (although first in Arms') was the e peccant offending party, and that Plimouth had just cause to take up Arms cagainst him: and it was then agreed that he should pay that Colony a certain fumme of Mony, in part of their damage and Charge by him occaficoned, and he then not only renewed his ancient Covenant of Friendship with them, but made himself and his Poeople absolute Subjects to our Sovecraign Lord King Charles the II. and to that his Colony of New-Plimouth, clince which time we know not that the English of that or any other of the c Colonies have been injurious to him or his, that might justly provoke them. c to take up Arms against us: But sometime last winter, the Governour of e Plimouth was informed, by Saufaman a faithful Indian, that the faid Philip was undoubtedly endeavouring to raife new troubles, and to engage all the Sachens round about in War against us. Some of the English also that lived near the faid Sachem, communicated their fears and jealoufies concurrent with what the Indian had informed: About a week after Fohn Saufaman had given his Information, he was barbaroufly Murdered by c some Indians, for his faithfulness (as we have cause to believe) to the Initerest of God, and of the English. Sometime after Sausamans death, Philip having heard that the Governour of Plimouth had received some information against him, and purposed to send to him to appear at the next Court, that they might enquire into those Reports, came down of his own accord to Plimouth, a little before the Court, in the beginning of March last, at which time the Council of that Colony, upon a large debate with himshad e great reason to believe that the information against him might be in sube stance true: But not having proof thereof, and hoping that very discovery e of it so far would cause him to desist, they dismist him friendly, giving him conly to understand, that if they heard further concerning that matter, they amight see reason to demand his Arms to be delivered up for their security,

(which was according to former agreement between him and them) and The engaged on their demand they should be surrendred to them or their order. At that Court we had many Indians in Examination concerning the Murder of John Sausaman, but had not then testimony in the case, but not long after an Indian appearing to testifie, we apprehended three by him charged, to be the Murderers, and fecured them, to a tryal at our next Court holden in June, at which time, and a little before the Court, Philip. began to keep his men in Arms about him, and to gather Strangers to him, and to march about in arms towards the upper end of the Neck in which he lived; and near to the English houses, who began thereby to be something disquieted, but took as yet no further notice, but only to set a Military Watch, in the next Towns of Swanzy and Rehoboth. Some hints we had that Indians were in arms, whilst our Court was sitting, but we hoped it 'might arife from a guilty fear in Philip, that we would fend for him, and bring him to tryal with the other Murderers, and that if he faw the Court broke up, and he not fent for, the cloud might blow over. And indeed our 'Innocence made us very secure, and confident it would not have broke into 'a War. But no sooner was our Court dissolved, but we had intelligence from Lieut. John Brown of Swanzy that Philip and his men continued confrantly in arms, many strange Indians from several places slocked into him, that they fent away their Wives to Narraganset, and were giving our Peo-'ple frequent Alarms by Drums, and Guns in the night, and had guarded the passages towards Plimouth, and that their young Indians were earnest for a War. On the seventh of June, Mr. Benjamin Church being on Rhode-'Island, Weetamoe (the Squaw Sachim of Pocasset,) and some of her chief 6 men told him, that Philip intended a War speedily with the English; some of them faying, that they would help him, and that he had already given them leave to kill English-mens Cattle, and rob their Houses. About the 14. and 15th. of June Mr. James Brown went twice to Philip to perswade him to be quiet, but at both times found his Men in arms, and Philip very s high and not perswadable to peace. On the 14th of June, our Council writ an amicable friendly Letter to him, shewing our dislike of his practi-' fes, and advising him to dismiss his strange Indians, and command his own ' men to fall quietly to their business, that our people might also be quiet, " and not to fuffer himself to be abused by reports concerning us, who intended no hurt towards him; but Mr Brown could not obtain any Answer from him. On the 17th of June, Mr. Pain of Rehoboth, and several Eneglish going unarined to Mount-Hope to seek their Horses at Philips request, the Indians came and presented their Guns at them, and carried it very infolently, though no way provoked by them. On the 18. or 19th of June,

POSTSCRIPT.

June 20. being Sabbath day, the People of Smanzy were Alarmed by the Indians, two of our Inhabitants turned out of their Houses, and their Houses risled, and the Indians were marching up (as they judged) to affault the Town, and therefore intreated speedy help from us. We thereupon, the 21. of June, send up some to relieve that Town, and dispatch more with speed. On wednesday 23. of June twelve more of their Houses at Smanzy were risled. On the 24th. Layton was slain at the Fall River near Pocasser. On the 25th of June, divers of our people at Smanzy were slain, and many Houses burned: until which time, and for several dayes after, though we had a considerable force there, both of our own, and of the Massachusets (to our grief and shame) they took no revenge on the Enemy. Thus slow were we and unwilling to engage our selves and Neighbours in a War, having many insolencies, almost intolerable, from them, at whose hands we had deserved better;

Josiah Winslow. Thomas Hinckley.

As a Meeting of the Commissioners of the United Colonies held at Boston. September the 9th. 1 6 7 5.

The having received from the Commissioners of Plimouth, a Narrative, shewing the rise and several steps of that Colony, as to the present War with the Indians, which had its beginning there, and its progress into the Massachusets, by their insolencies, and outrages, Murthering many persons, and burning their Houses in sundry Plantations in both Colonies. And having duely considered the same, do Declare, That the said War doth appear to be both just and necessary, and its first rise only a Defensive War. And therefore we do agree and conclude, that it ought now to be joyntly prosecuted by all the United Colonies; and the charges thereof to be born and paid as is agreed in the Articles of Consederation.

The

The above expressed Letter and Narrative will (I hope) tend to remove. Prejudices out of the spirits of dissatisfied persons, touching the grounds of the present War. Some have thought that if Philip (the Ringleader of all the mischief and misery which hath hapned by this War), his solemn engagement to the English, above sour years before these Troubles began, were published, it would farther clear the justice of the War on our part; and the more in that he doth desire, that that Covenant might testifie against him to the world, if ever he should prove unsaithful therein. I shall therefore here subjoyn what was by him together with his Council, subscribed (in the presence of sundry appertaining to this Jurisdiction) and doth still remain with their Names set to it, in the publick Records of the Colonies.

It is that which followeth.

Taunton, Apr. 10. 1671.

Hereas my Father, my Brother, and my self have formerly submitmitted our selves and our People unto the Kings Majesty of England, and to this Colony of New Plymouth, by solemn Covenant under our Hand, but Is having of late through my indifcretion, and the nautiness of my heart, violated and broken this my Covenant with my friends, by taking up Arms with evil intent against them, and that groundlessy; I being now deeply sensible of my unfaithfulness and folly, do defire at this time folemnly to renew my Covenant with my ancient Ftiends, and my Fathers friends above mentioned; and do defire this may testifie to the world against me, if ever I shall again fail in my faithfulness towards them (that I have now and at all times found so kind to me) or any other of the English Colonics, and as a real Pledge of my true intentions, for the future to be faithful and friendly, I do freely engages: to refign up unto the Government of New-Plymouth, all my English Arms to be kept by them for their fecurity, so long as they shall see reason. For true performance of the Premises I have hereunto set my hand together with the rest of my Council.

By all these things it is evident, that we may truly say of Philip, and the Indians, who have fought to dispossess us of the Land, which the Lord our God hath given to us, as sometimes Fephthah, and the Children of Israel, faid to the King of Ammon, I have not finned against thee, but thou dost me wrong to war against me; the Lord the Judge, be Judge this day between the Children of Israel, and the Children of Ammon. And as Jehosaphat said, when the Heathen in those days combined to destroy the Lords People; And now behold the Children of Ammon, and Moab, and Mount Seir, whom thou wouldest not let Israel invade when they came out of the Land of Egypt, but they turned from them, and destroyed them not, behold how they rewarded us, to come to cast us out of thy Possession, which thou hast given us to inherit. O our Cod wilt thou not judge them? Even so, when Philip was in the hands of the English in former years. and difarmed by them, they could eafily, but would not destroy him and his men. The Governours of that Colony have been as careful to prevent injuries to him as unto any others; yea, they kept his Land not from him, but for him, who otherwise would have fold himself out of all; and the Gospel was freely offered to him and to his Subjects, but they despised it: And now behold how they reward us! Will not our God judg them? yea he hath and will do fo.
